CRITICAL DAYS AHEAD Japanese Reach Whangpoo River Boom

Shanghai, November 14.
The next few days will be critical for China. The Japanese who are receiving continued reinforcements are swiftly following up the Chinese withdrawals and doing their utmost to prevent the Chinese from re-establishing themselves, and even the fate of Nanking may be in the balance if they succeed.
A number of prominent Chinese officials are leaving for Hong Kong and several Chinese Government agencies have transferred to Nanking. Half the British troops on duty in the western perimeter have now been withdrawn.
The Japanese have succeeded in reaching the boom across the Whangpoo River.—Reuter.

Turning Point In European Situation

Berlin, Nov. 14.
The forthcoming "peace talks in the three European capitals"—the visits of Lord Halifax to Berlin, King of the Belgians to London and reports that Count Ciano will have further discussions with Lord Perth—are interpreted as the turning point in the European situation.

This view finds support, according to German political quarters. In Mr. Neville Chamberlain's speech in Edinburgh, it is pointed out that the speech confirms the good impression Mr. Chamberlain made in his previous speech as Premier, when he outlined the British foreign policy which safeguards the interests of the British Empire while renouncing all aggressive intentions and unnecessary incumbrance of foreign relations and useless experiments outside the British sphere of interest.

Political circles here describe as "speculation without foundation" the suggestion in a British newspaper that Herr Hitler is ready to offer Britain a ten-year truce on the colonial question in return for a free hand in Central Europe.—

JAPANESE TROOPS LAND NEAR SHANGHAI SHARP FIGHTING IN SOUTHERN HOPEI

Shanghai, November 14: Under cover of warships which laid smokecreens and shelled the Chinese positions, Japanese landed troops at Palmokou on the south bank of the Yangtse, forty-five miles north-west of Shanghai. The Japanese troops marched inland and have already occupied Chihyang fifteen miles from Palmokou, according to a Japanese communique. Chinese forces have withdrawn from Liuho which is occupied by Japanese. The whole of the Chinese left flank which pivoted on Liuho is falling back and the Japanese claim they have already captured Taitsang ten miles south-west of Liuho and Walkang five miles south-west of Kiating. The Japanese are confident of smashing the Chinese "Hindenburg line" which stretches from the Yangtse to Hangchow via Changshu, Soochow, Wukiang and Kashing, within forty-eight hours. The Japanese claim they are now pressing the Chinese troops in the direction of Quinsan after advancing northward from Wuchangtau. It is reported that another column is advancing against Sienkeng, a little village not far from the Shanghai hills on the road to Hengpu which is a strategic position held by the right wing of the Chinese army.—Reuter.

Peiping, November 14: Sharp fighting occurred in southern Hopei during the past two days as a result of spirited attempts by Chinese troops to disorganise the Japanese lines of communication on the Pinghan Railway. The towns of Tzechow, Shunche and Hsuangmiau, also the railway bridge across the Chang River were raided under cover of darkness early yesterday morning by small bodies of men detached from the 29th and 59th Chinese armies operating to the east of the railway. A Japanese communique claims that the raiders were driven off in each case while strong Japanese units engaged the main forces which withdrew towards Shantung. It is stated that the Chinese troops were assisted by a large number of recruits from the local peasantry.—Reuter.

SITUATION AT AMOY CRITICAL

Japanese Continue Reconnoitring

Amoy, Nov. 14.

The situation here is critical as indicated by the continuous reconnoitring of this island by Japanese seaplanes and the cruise of eight warships off these waters.

One British and one American destroyer arrived here yesterday to protect their respective nationals.

Two small Japanese naval craft fired with machine gun on Wutung near here and drew the rifle fire of the shore garrison. After a duel of ten minutes, the two boats departed. It is said that they flew the Chinese marine flag.

More Japanese bluejackets landed at Quemoy Island yesterday for the purpose of building additional defence works.—

SMUGGLING OF WOLFRAM

Shikwan, Nov. 14.
With the increase of smuggling of wolfram from South Kiangsi and North Kwangtung via the Canton-Hankow Railway for export, the railway guards and revenue preventive service to-day renewed their efforts to suppress this illicit traffic.

Export of wolfram is now banned as this mineral is to be preserved for military use. Japan was a big buyer of wolfram for the manufacture of armaments before the North China and Shanghai war.—

FUNERAL OF MR. P. STEPHENS

Japanese Among Pall Bearers

Shanghai, Nov. 14: The funeral of Mr. Penelope Stephens, late "Daily Telegraph" correspondent who was killed by machine-gun bullets while observing the hostilities in Nantao from a vantage point in the French Concession on Thursday, took place at Bubbling Well Cemetery yesterday afternoon.

Representatives of the Japanese Army, Navy, Embassy and Consulate-General attended, also foreign correspondents, British officials and representatives of the Chinese Government.

Major Utso Nomiya, former Japanese Army spokesman in Shanghai and now Liaison Officer attached to British Headquarters was among the pall bearers.

The mourners included a number of British tommyes whom the late Mr. Stephens had met in the course of his rounds in the British defence sector.—

JAPANESE CONTINUE MINE-SWEEPING OPERATIONS

Shanghai, Nov. 14: The Japanese seized four deserted Chinese gunboats moored above the Whangpoo River boom. The Japanese are continuing mine-sweeping operations above the boom and have already removed fifteen mines. The Japanese gunboats Hotsu and Elra have gone up river as far as Minghong which is in the hands of Japanese troops.—

JAPANESE RAIDS KILL MANY PEOPLE

Houses Damaged In Haiyen

Hangchow, Nov. 14.
Japanese bombers raided Ningpo, Kashing, Haiyen, Hungpu from 6.50 a.m. to 3.30 p.m. on Friday and caused widespread destruction and a heavy toll of lives.

Ningpo was raided three times by twenty-seven war birds, which laid twelve "eggs." Over 30 persons were killed and about 70 were injured. More than nine houses were demolished by the bombing.

Four bombs were dropped on Hungpu near Ningpo. The most serious bombing was in Haiyen, north of Hangchow Bay, where ten "missiles" were released, destroying over one hundred houses. Kashing's share was six bombs, but the casualties were not known. Pasha near Ningpo was also raided.

As the bombing of Ningpo is a prelude to a naval invasion, the Kio River is closely guarded especially at the delta in Chinhal.—

MACAO RACE MEETING Ladies' Race Provides Thrilling Finish

HWANG HO HANDICAP WON BY MR. W.G. POY

A very large crowd of eager punters attended the November meeting of the Macao Jockey Club, which was held at the Arca Preta course yesterday. Accommodation on the s.s. Kinshan was taxed to the limit.

Favoured with brilliant weather, the meeting was a great success, and some very fine riding was seen. Mr. W. G. Poy, riding Merry Maker, recorded a well-merited win in the Hwang Ho Handicap.

The Ladies' race provided a great deal of excitement. Only a neck separated the winner, Hopefuler (Miss Gertrude White up) from Rotheras Bay (Miss F. Marsh), which in turn gained second place from Fairy Auk (Miss B. Lord) by a mere head.

REPERCUSSIONS IN RUSSIA

Whole Nation Growing War Conscious

Moscow, Nov. 13.
Repercussions of the Sino-Japanese conflict are being increasingly felt in Eastern Siberia, according to newspaper reports which describe the military situation there to-day as approximately that in the period immediately preceding the Russo-Japanese war of 1904-05.

The War Commissariat has assumed entire control of the Trans-Siberian Railway, vital life line of Marshal Bluecher's formidable Red Army detachments in the Far East.

Normal passenger traffic is reported to have been almost entirely suspended and has given way to military requirements, which mainly consist of the pouring of reinforcements and supplies to the Far East.

All railway bridges east of Krassnoyarsk are closely guarded by military detachments, while patrols keep endless watch on the track.

While on the few passenger trains still running, travellers are allowed unrestricted view of the countryside, the blinds are drawn when trains pass over bridges.—

London, Nov. 14.
The refusal of the Japanese Government to meet at the Brussels International Far Eastern Conference which was conveyed in reply to the conference note of Nov. 6, was considered at a meeting of the conference to-day.

Dr. Wellington Koo of China, who described the note as slamming the door to conciliation and mediation in the face of the conference and appealed for withholding supplies of war materials and credits from Japan and extending aid to China, was the first speaker and he traced the history of aggression.

Brief speeches were delivered by other leading delegates to the conference. Mr. Eden, the Foreign Secretary, in the course of his address, said: "I take this opportunity to discuss the observance of the Treaty which we have signed to repeat that it is on the basis of respect for international law that His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom" (Continued on Page 9)

No. 77 SET

BETTER VALUE THAN EVER

The Gillette No. 77 Set illustrated here, which contains the latest Gillette razor, three Blue Gillette slotted blades and two blade holders in a new type of moulded box, has these definite advantages.

The razor is made in two pieces instead of three, as formerly, thus making it easier and quicker to clean, assemble and use.

This blades are made by the new electrical-tampering process. They give not only closer, cleaner shaves than you have ever had before, but also more shaves per blade.

The case is ideal for hot and humid climates as it is so easy to keep clean.

Ask your dealer to show you a No. 77 Set—one of the most popular that Gillette have ever made.

WHEN CHRISTIANS MAY FIGHT

Securing Reign Of Public Law

In his sermon at St. John's Cathedral yesterday (Remembrance Sunday) the Rev. Rev. H. W. Barnes said, inter alia:—This is a day when, as the perspective lengthens, we look up as we hear the call of the fallen.

It may be that to the older generation Armistice Day is above all else a day of memories of those who have laughed with them and shared familiar tables of home and lingered at play or fought beside them: Day of sacred memories.

But what of the younger generation who stood last Thursday wondering at the meaning of this annual pageantry? The very simplicity of the two minutes' silence compels the man and woman of the generation physically unscathed by the war to ask to what purpose was this expenditure of life. How, indeed, can the younger generation help crying out to what purpose was this waste? Stan. Hill's cartoon last Sunday is a true picture of the bewilderment of my generation and of those who are younger as we watch the shapely biting chips off the Memorial to our Glorious Dead?

ALTERNATIVE AMBITIONS

How easy it is for us to say that they who showed a love, than which none is greater, by giving up their lives for their friends, fought for an ideal which got us nowhere. Fight for yourselves and get somewhere or vow never to fight at all—these are the alternative ambitions claiming my generation. But it is exactly at that point that the message of November 11 comes home.

It is the focus of our commemoration of the dead whom we call glorious and gallant, not because we wish to heap adjective upon adjective, nor because they died trying to wrest another mile or two to add to the British Empire.

The war for the average Englishman was, I believe, not an imperialist war but was fought to keep a promise.

NO EMPTY BOAST

To call it selfish and commercial is as unjust as it is untrue. When it was said that the war was fought to end war and to make the world fit for heroes or democracy there was no empty boasting. The attempt may have failed, but that is not the point. What I am saying is that our fallen fell for England, yes, but equally truly for a moral ideal to win back the legal framework of international society inside which the good life could be lived.

And I believe that whatever the failures and injustices of the Versailles Treaty there is no possible doubt that the peace settlement and the generation of the League of Nations were drawn up fundamentally to establish, reinforce and perpetuate the moral international order. It is well called the Covenant and it is a just memorial to the fallen.

SAVING CIVILISATION

We say that our Elder Brothers died that we may live. They did, but not just that we might survive. It mattered to them whether we live who survive them in non-moral anarchy or in well-ordered conditions. Let me take an example. The Powers have been faithful to the intention of the fallen when they made their decisions at Nyon to police the Mediterranean, because by so doing they took a step towards collective security and gave a sedative to panic-stricken Europe.

If decisive action by a group of Powers can thus banish the menace of piracy from the trade routes of the Mediterranean, what may not be possible on a bigger scale in delivering civilization as a whole from the ultimate brigandage of war?

THE COMMON TASK

I have said that I believe the fallen gave their lives for a moral ideal and in order to bring to birth a just international order; that the peace treaties are an attempt to legalize and to reinforce that order; and that on Armistice Day, the Cenotaph during the two minutes' silence summons us in loyalty to the dead to give ourselves to the same task.

So much anyone thinking carefully about the last two decades of English history might say to the perplexed Englishman of my generation. But how does such an ideal seem from the standpoint of Nazareth? There is for a great many Christians the misgiving that this whole attitude of collective responsibility for the sake of collective security involving the use of armed force in the last resort is at best sub-Christian and at worst wholly incompatible with the Christian spirit.

Such people would say what you are advocating may be true to the fallen, but it is untrue to Christ. I affirm the contrary. Nyon, some will say, is anti-Nazareth. That, of course, is true in the sense that in a Christian world recourse to military methods would be inconceivable.

THE CHRISTIAN'S TASK

But the Christian's task now is to translate Nazareth in the actual circumstances in which we are living. Without assuming the innocence of our own record or passing judgment upon national conduct in the East and West to-day surely it is true that with national irresponsibility and disunion grown to such a pitch, order—even stern and repressive—is not itself more hostile to the Christian idea than anarchy and rapine.

Law in the sense of decent ordered society is an indispensable preliminary to love meaning perfected human relationships. Hence it is a genuine part of a Christian policy to defend public law as the condition or any good life at all and of Christ's commandment of love. This is not a plea for militarism which was one of the moral enemies which those whom we commemorate to-day fought to exterminate.

I am not saying that war and Christianity are compatible. They are not. But I believe that not only the fallen but also Christ, do not condemn the concerted use of force in a world in which Christ is not yet acknowledged king as an instrument for love, to prevent war and help to secure the reign of public law.

WATER METER CHARGES

Alleged Tampering And Theft Of Covers

An adjournment till to-day was ordered by Mr. R. A. D. Forrest at the Central Magistracy on Saturday in the case in which Wong Kau, 23, unemployed, is charged with tampering with a water meter at No. 37, Des Voeux Road West.

Defendant was remanded until to-day for the law officers of the Crown to be consulted by the prosecution, as to whether defendant's alleged offence could be brought within the particular section of the Ordinance under which he was charged.

Ng Yu, 48, unemployed, also appeared before Mr. Forrest charged on four counts of theft of water meter covers from four different addresses in the West Point district. He claimed that a man gave him 10 cents to carry the covers for him.

Mr. Sayers said that such thefts were becoming a very common occurrence, and was costing the Government an enormous sum of money to replace the covers. The thieves sold the covers for 10 cents perhaps, but their actual worth was about $1.50. Once the covers were removed from the meters they were liable to damage as they were

Dis-honest Delivery Man Sent To Gaol

Remarking that what defendant had done was a serious menace to public health, Mr. R. Edwards sentenced Lau Kwan, coolie, to six months' hard labour at the Central Magistracy on Saturday on a charge of larceny of a quantity of milk from the Dairy Farm Ice and Cold Storage Company.

Appearing for the Dairy Farm Co., Mr. W. A. Mackinlay, of Deacons, said that early on the morning of October 28, Lau was handed a number of bottles of milk to be delivered. The same day a complaint was made to the Dairy Farm by Mr. Lam Wing-kam, of No. 45 Lee Garden Street, first floor, that the milk delivered was not as good as it should be. The milk was analysed and it was found by the Company's analyst that it contained about 10 per cent. of added water.

Defendant denied knowledge of the added water but was convicted and sentenced as above.

Defendant denied a previous conviction against him, and was remanded until Monday. Detective-Sergeant J. Allen prosecuted in both cases.

SNATCHER GAOLED

Woman Tells Of Incident In Tonglwan Road

Described as a broker, Leung Po, aged 22, who appeared on remand before Mr. R. A. D. Forrest at the Central Magistracy on Saturday, was sentenced to two months' hard labour and ten strokes of the cane when convicted on a snatching charge.

Complainant was Mrs. Chan Yan-see whose purse containing $72.68 had been snatched by defendant in Tonglwan Road on November 8.

Defendant denied the charge, and, giving evidence, Mrs. Chan said she was by the bus terminus about 2.30 p.m. when someone came from behind, snatched her purse, and ran away. She turned round, and saw it was defendant, whom she recognized. Several pedestrians chased and caught Leung.

Ngai Mok-ching, 23, a baker, said he was one of those who chased Leung, and being the nearest one to him, stopped him. Before this, however, he noticed Leung fling the purse to the ground, but retaining a number of banknotes in his hand. Passing sentence, his Worship

How to get rid of Disfiguring Blemishes

How much younger would you look and feel if your skin was clear and entirely free from blemish?

Pimples, spots, blackheads, enlarged pores, burning irritations and ugly complexion defects are woman's most common "aging" enemies. To all who suffer, Cuticura presents the most simple and effective way to clear the skin.

Cleanse the skin with Cuticura Soap twice a day. Its luxuriant, mildly antiseptic lather is soothing and softening; washes away pore-deep dust and grime which develop blackheads, enlarged pores and ugly complexion defects. And to rid the skin of pimples, outbreaks, rashes or irritations use Cuticura Ointment direct on the affected part before washing with the soap. Its antiseptic action kills germs, soothes and heals and quickly clears the skin.

Try this treatment to-day, see how your skin begins to look clearer and fresher; your complexion smoother, lovelier, more attractive than ever before.

Cuticura For Clear Healthy Skin

Sold by all Chemists and Stores. Ask for Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. And for powder use Cuticura Talcum—exceptionally fine and pure, exquisitely perfumed.

LITTLE ENTENTE Basis Of Equality

Prague, Nov. 13. An important review on the foreign situation was given by the Czechoslovakian Foreign Minister, Dr. Krofta, to both Houses of Parliament yesterday.

Czechoslovakia's relations with the United States, he said, had been greatly influenced by the fact that the Czech people shared the views expressed by President Roosevelt.

As regards the Little Entente, it was in complete agreement on all matters affecting Central Europe. Negotiations with Hungary were being conducted on a basis of equality, and were making good progress, while relations with Austria were cordial.

France had recently given renewed assurances through her Foreign Minister, M. Yvon Delbois, that she intended to fulfill all her obligations with regard to unprovoked attacks upon Czechoslovakia.

MUTUAL RELATIONS
Britain, stated Dr. Krofta, continued to take an interest in Central Europe.

Although the Czechoslovakian system of government did not conform with that of Soviet Russia, both countries were alike pledged to work for maintenance of a new European order.

Turning to relations with Germany, Dr. Krofta remarked that Germany had been pursuing a policy hostile in principle to Czechoslovakia.

He deplored the German press campaign against Prague, which was not calculated to advance the efforts being made to establish friendly mutual relations.

The problem of the German minority in Czechoslovakia, he concluded, should not constitute a hindrance to maintenance of good Czech-German relations.

WAR ENDING IN SPAIN?

Armistice Talk Is Revived

London, Nov. 13. Rumours of an impending armistice in Spain are splashed all over the front pages of most of the London newspapers this morning.

Impetus is given to the rumours by the impending visit to England of the Spanish Republican Premier, Senor Juan Negrin.

The papers report that the Spanish Ambassador to London arrived in Barcelona yesterday for talks with Government leaders, immediately after which he left to return to London.

Two squadrons of Nationalist tri-motored bombers tried to raid Barcelona and Tarragona this afternoon, but were driven off by anti-aircraft fire.

Bombs were dropped but they fell at some distance and no damage was done.

A successful Republican air raid was carried out on Pamplona, it is admitted by Nationalist headquarters here to-day.

According to the official report, ten aeroplanes participated in the raid.

KING DECORATES GENERAL

London, Nov. 12. His Majesty the King received General J. C. Hill, recently Officer Commanding the British troops in Palestine, at Buckingham Palace this morning and invested him with the Order of the Knight Commander of the Bath.

DUKE OF WINDSOR

Paris, Nov. 13. That he had in no way intended to prevent the Duke of Windsor from attending the Armistice Day service in St. George's Church in Paris, was the statement made yesterday by the chaplain, the Rev. J. Dart.

His statements about his personal attitude to the Duke, he said, were of a private nature, and not meant for the public, and he had done his utmost to convey his apologies to the Duke, whom he regretted felt offended by the publicity given to his statement.

ATTEMPT ON LIFE OF NAZI LEADER

Hamburg, Nov. 13. An attempt on the life of Herr Karl Kaufman, Governor and Nazi district leader of Hamburg, was made by a man later identified as a technical school teacher named Ziehn at a Nazi party meeting here last night.

Ziehn fired two shots at Herr Kaufman, both of them fortunately failing to hit their mark.

The would-be assassin was arrested, and examination showed that he had submitted several petitions to the Governor which the latter had rejected.

Ziehn had also addressed petitions to the Nazi district leader of Schleswig-Holstein, which also had been rejected.

NEW CREAM MASCARA

Ends the artificial look of old-fashioned mascara

Waterproof
for easier to use!
True cream now replaces the bold, theatrical look that has discouraged so many women from using old-fashioned forms of mascara.
The effect you have always wished to achieve with mascara is now actually possible! Your lashes seem to sweep your cheeks with their length... their luxuriance rich with the enticing charm of naturalness!
Quite obviously, such exciting loveliness requires an entirely new kind of mascara; one that lasts without smudging, one that does not brand its user as artificial,
"theatrical" or "bold."
Tattoo Cream Mascara is just that. It goes on so evenly and smoothly its presence on the lashes is not detected. Nor will tears, rain or a plunge bring the secret... for THIS mascara, not being mixed with water when applied, is really waterproof! Much easier to use than cake mascara too, and perfectly harmless. Can't smart.
Complete with brush in smart rubber-lined satin vanity... Black... Brown... Blue... at the better stores. Tattoo your eyelashes!

CALL IT A DAY

What the balmy breath of Spring's first day does to slumbering hearts is the theme of a delightful comedy-drama entitled
"Call It A Day." A Cosmopolitan
production released by Warner Bros., showing to-day at the King's Theatre.

Big, good-looking Ian Hunter plays the part of a well-to-do Britisher. His wife is Frieda Inescort, noted London, and Broadway actress. They have been married 20 years and are pretty much in a rut.

Then there's a daughter of 18
or thereabouts—who's the lovely Olivia de Havilland—and another of 15, who's Bonita Granville, the celebrated brat of "These Three."
Peter Willis, young British actor is the son of the family. It's a well-settled, unemotional household.

The uproarious antics of the absurd Marx Brothers—Groucho, Harpo and Chico—together with the admirable supporting work of Maureen O'Sullivan, Allan Jones,
Margaret Dumont, Esther Muir and others, and the excellent direction of Sam Wood, combine to make "A Day At The Races," latest Marx laugh extravaganza,
which has its run at the Majestic Theatre to-day, one of the deliciously amusing photoplays of this year or any other year.

It would be difficult to imagine any picture being funnier than the last Marxian epic, "A Night
At The Opera," but their current vehicle with its hilarious plot shifting between a sanatorium and a race track, with Groucho in the role of a horse doctor, Chico as a jockey and Harpo as a race track

ROBBER BARONS

To defeat a rival capitalist who sought the controlling interest in the Erie Railroad, Jim Fisk, one of the most colourful of the early speculators in America, printed and issued additional shares of stock, as dramatized in "Robber Barons," co-starring by Edward Arnold, Cary Grant, Frances Farmer, and Jack Oakie.

Starting as a peddler of calico, Fisk early in life displayed his ingenuity by making a fortune
during the Civil War, procuring cotton from the South for the New England States. Later, matching his wit against the best financial minds of New York, he soon rose to a position of power, joining Daniel Drew in the management of the Erie Railroad.

Equally as flamboyant as his business career was his devotion to Josie Mansfield, whose ambition to become a theatrical star kept Fisk continually seeking additional resources. Fisk flaunted his unconventional affair in the face of
New York, climaxing his adulation by "buying a theatre for her."
Frances Farmer plays the bewitching Josie.

"Robber Barons" brings in support of the stars, Thelma Leeds,
radio and night club headliner,
whose dancing and singing is one of the highlights of the film.

Others are Donald Meek,
Clarence Kolb, George Irving, Paul Gullfoyle and Douglas Woods.

"Robber Barons" has its run at the Queen's Theatre to-day.

DOUBLE OR NOTHING

Scenes that you'll remember songs that will be hummed by millions a heap of good wholesome tom-foolery that will tune up your funny bone, plus Bing Crosby and Martha Raye, make
"Double or Nothing," which has its run at the Alhambra Theatre to-day, a grand entertainment.

Bing and Martha literally lay a velvet carpet for your approach to the high heaven of fun. They casually wait seven new songs to stardom, including "It's The Natural Thing To Do," "It's On,
It's Off," "The Moon Got In My Eyes" and "All You Want To Do
Is Dance." They launch a "Sing Band." They introduce a quick-change night club show that will make night club history.

Andy Devine, "gravel-voiced" comedian, is in it, and so is the genial William Frawley. With Bing and Martha they make up the four honest fortune hunters who are out to double $5,000 in thirty days. Plotting against them is Sam Hinds whose lovely daughter, played by Mary Carlisle, is enlisted to entice Bing from finance to romance.

When the success of the show is threatened by the nefarious
Hinds, the crooner takes on the Aladdin role, presses a button and sets the whole night club moving from one building to another,
while hundreds of dancers wheel,
on the floor, the orchestra plays, and entertainers perform. It is one of the screen's most sensational wind-ups and incidentally sends Bing off with the fortune tout, undoubtedly tops even the former picture for side-splitting situations, rib-tickling dialogue and howling characterizations.

ESCAPE FROM DEATH

Adventures Of Eight Chinese Soldiers

Missing since August 17, and believed by their officers and comrades to have met death in Yangtzepoo at the hands of Japanese marines, eight worn, hungry but smiling Chinese soldiers have emerged from the Shadow of Death and to-day are alive and well, again facing the enemy on the Shanghai front.

Immediately after the outbreak of hostilities in the Shanghai area the eight men were engaged in operations in Yangtzepoo, where they were cut off from their comrades and were prevented from joining them because between them and their comrades lay the Japanese Naval Drill Field, which was held by the Nipponese.

Their comrades heard heavy rifle and machine-gun fire where the eight men were believed to be in hiding, and it was assumed that they had perished.

Days passed and eventually a report reached the commanding officer of the eight men to the effect that they had escaped death and were in hiding in a dwelling on the southwest end of Yochow Road.

The officer was delighted but amazed, for it was known that the Japanese were in that area in large numbers and it was not believed that so small a party of Chinese soldiers could hold out there for long. The report persisted and the commanding officer determined to attempt a rescue of the men.

The call for volunteers resulted in every man responding. The officer selected a small party, which he personally headed. In the gloom of night and with a heavy rain falling, the officer dashing led his men through devious alleys and lanes to a point near the home where it was believed the men were in hiding.

A lone Chinese soldier stealthily crept forward, gained entrance to the home and found the men, weak and suffering but alive. Two of the eight could scarcely walk, but all managed to make their way from the place. They had almost gained the Chinese positions when Japanese sentries spotted them and opened fire. But the night was dark and the Japanese aim not so good.

The eight men were then given their first hot meal in many a day and are now as fit as ever.

ANTI-MUT TSAI SOCIETY

The sixteenth annual general meeting of the Hong Kong Anti-mutual Society was held at the Chinese Y.W.C.A., Bonham Road, on Saturday at 7.30 p.m. when a general review of the past year's work was read, and the officials for 1937-1938 were elected by ballots.

Following the election, the Chinese Secretary gave a rather lengthy report, the abbreviation of which will be found below.

"The most important question during recent years is that of the so-called adopted-daughters. If protection for them is not secured more or less similar to that now given to Mulsals, then the mutual system cannot be said to be satisfactorily abolished.

"Moreover, the work of the Society is confined within the narrow limits of the Colony of Hong Kong, and it efforts are not made to introduce reforms then no good results can be expected.

"The following is a summary of the Society's activities during the year:—

- Twelve cases of mutual complaints were dealt with. Three of these were satisfactorily settled with the help of the Secretary for Chinese Affairs;
three complaints, upon our investigation, were found false;
two cases are still under investigation; the remaining four cases were handed over to the Secretary for Chinese Affairs
who took appropriate action.
- A representative of this Society gave expert evidence in a case of contravention of the Female Domestic Servants Ordinance. This was done at the request of the Secretary for Chinese Affairs.
- Owing to the death of Mr.
Wong Sum Kan, our late President, the Rev. Lee Kau Yan was elected as the new President.

Confidential Communication

Salamanca, Nov. 13.
The first official statement by the Nationalist authorities on the exchange of agents with the British Government, already announced in the House of Commons, was made here to-day.

The statement says:
"Following the exchange of notes between the Government of General Franco and the British Government, it has been agreed to establish relations between the two governments by appointing agents in London and in Salamanca, respectively."

"A number of sub-agents at the most important harbours and inland towns will be placed under these agents."

"These officials will enjoy the official privilege of protection, and can maintain confidential communication among themselves without their official correspondence being censored."

"The Spanish Nationalist agent in London will have direct access to the British Foreign Office, while the British agent in Salamanca will likewise have direct contact with the bureau for foreign relations."

"The functions of the sub-agents are the same as Consuls as regards protection of their nationals and their country's shipping interests."

"The Spanish Nationalist Government considers this solution as transitory pending establishment of normal relations between Spain and Great Britain."

French North Africa Conference

Paris, Nov. 13.
An official statement was issued in Paris to-day on the outcome of the important French North Africa Conference, which has been sitting in the capital for several days past. The statement was made after M. Albert Sarraut, Minister for Colonies, had a lengthy consultation with the French Resident-General in Morocco.

The Conference, says the statement, has resolved to give effect to several measures designed to combat the recent subversive movements in North Africa.

PUBLIC WORKS PLANS
Some of these measures will be of an administrative character and will take into account present difficulties confronting the native population.

They include improvement in the water supply and public works with the object of combating unemployment.

Natives are to be enlisted in the work of administration, opening up a new vista in French colonial rule.

EGYPTIAN CABINET DIFFICULTIES

Cairo, Nov. 13.
Negotiations are pending between the Wafd Government and the Egyptian court for partial re-organisation of the Cabinet.

Political circles consider that a change in the Cabinet, with Nahas Pasha, however, remaining as Prime Minister, to be imminent.

"VERY STRIKING DOCUMENT"

Brussels, Nov. 14.
The Portuguese delegate expressed entire approbation of the declaration which he described as a very striking document. In view of the Portuguese interests in the Far East the declaration is entirely in line with the policy of his Government. M. Spaak said he was confident the declaration would be adopted on Monday.

FIELD FOR MUTUAL ENDEAVOUR

Lord Halifax's Visit To Berlin

London, Nov. 13.

The impending visit to Germany of the Lord President of the Council, Lord Halifax, is favourably commented upon by the Conservative and Liberal press but is criticised by the Labour "Daily Herald."

With the exception of the Labour organ, all newspapers emphasise its importance as a contribution to a firm understanding between Britain and Germany and in the cause of peace.

"The Times" says that an attempt should be made to remove the differences at present existing, and if possible to find a field for mutual endeavour.

The proper moment has arrived, and it is certain that nine-tenths of the British people are heartily in favour of this policy.

The "Daily Mail" expresses the opinion that the visit will mark the beginning of new and friendlier relations, while the Liberal "News Chronicle" declares that nothing would be more welcome to the British public than a lasting agreement between Britain and Germany on those problems which at present are bones of contention.

COLONIAL QUESTION

Concerning Lord Halifax's programme in Germany, it is announced that he will confer with the Foreign Secretary, Mr. Anthony Eden, on Monday, and will probably leave London on Wednesday or Thursday. Lord Halifax is expected to return at the beginning of the following week.

The "Daily Mail" mentions the possibility of him continuing his trip to Rome but says that such an eventuality depends on later developments.

As possible subjects of discussion between Lord Halifax and Herr Hitler, several papers suggest the colonial question, the Far Eastern situation, a new western pact and Spain.

"The Times" states that the object of Lord Halifax's visit will be to ascertain the exact nature of the obstacles which obstruct the path of smooth relations between the two countries, and to discuss the possibilities for removing them.

The conversations in Germany, says the Journal, will mark the quiet and informal beginning of investigation of these problems.

International News Agency.

Brazil's Totalitarian Government

London, Nov. 13.

Brazil's change to a totalitarian form of government is not to be condemned or praised, says "The Times" in a lengthy leading article.

The only firmly established fact in the whole matter is that President Vargas is determined to remain in office.

President Vargas, however, is neither a Hitler nor a Mussolini, who as leaders of a powerful movement acquired power in order to institute a political and economic system based on a new outlook, but is merely a South American politician who wishes to maintain at all costs the power invested in him by the people.

Any judgment must be reserved until future developments have shown whether Brazil is fertile soil for such an experiment.

INTERNAL POLITICS

Britain is not inclined to take sides with either view because the question is one of internal politics, but will nevertheless follow developments with extreme interest in view of the commercial relations between the two countries and the amount of British capital invested in Brazil.

In this connection, considerable concern is expressed over suspension of payments of Brazilian foreign debts, which it is declared has made a grave impression on London financial circles.

Brazil still possesses unlimited possibilities of development, which, however, are dependent on foreign capital, and the Brazilian President could do his own country no greater harm than to destroy Brazilian credit on the money markets of the world through refusing to meet his incurred obligations.

JAPANESE TEMPTING "INCIDENT"

Might Provide Excuse
For Strong Action

Shanghai, Nov. 13.
With the Japanese occupation of Nantao, all non-Japanese are now confined within foreign administered areas, which are encircled by Japanese troops.

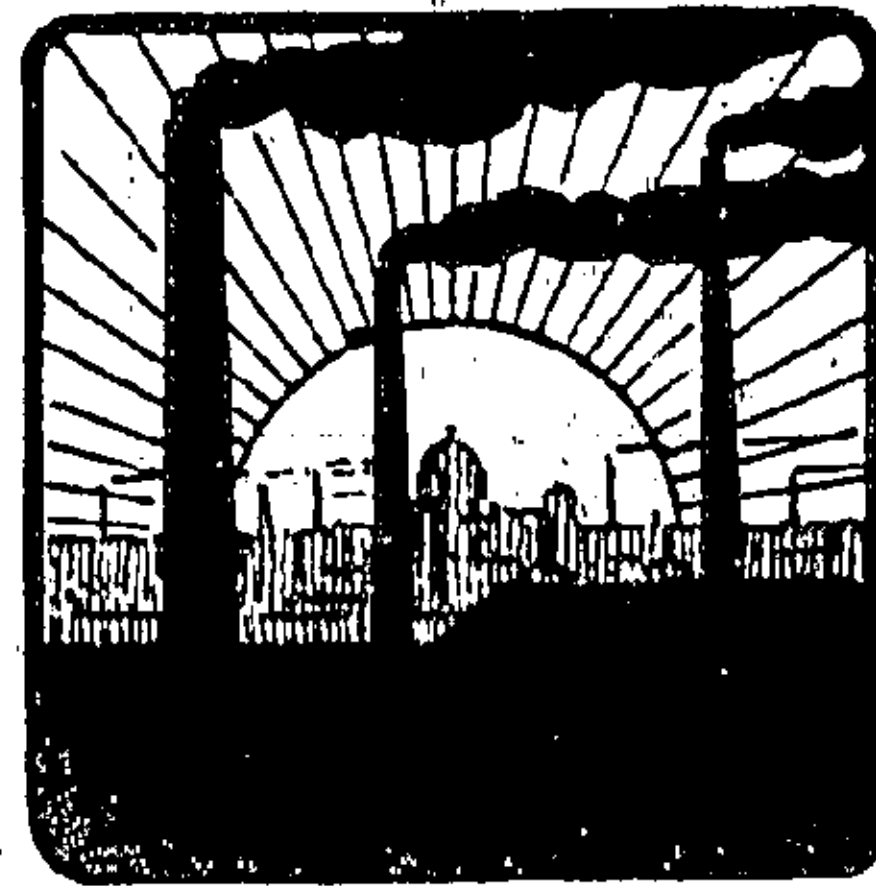

Japanese civilians, including women, dressed in bright kimonos, are now freely entering parts of the Settlement south of Soochow Creek, travelling about in motor cars flying the Japanese flag.

It is generally recognised that this might, at any moment, occasion an incident which might be the signal for strong action by the Japanese army.

PAY-CAPT. GRAHAM
Paymaster Captain G. Graham, R.N., retired, has been awarded a Greenich Hospital pension of £50 a year in the vacancy created by the death of Paymaster Captain G. Hewlett, C.B., R.N., retired, on September 28.

FIRST LORD'S THANKS TO THE NAVY

The First Lord has sent the following message to the Commander-in-Chief, Mediterranean:—
On my return from the Mediterranean I wish to thank you and those serving under you for the welcome that I received there. I was deeply impressed by the devotion to duty and the cheerful efficiency that animate all officers and men. The difficult and onerous task that has been imposed upon the Royal Navy during the past year has been carried out in a manner that has earned the admiration of their fellow-countrymen and of the world.

NAVAL APPOINTMENTS
The following appointments are made by the Admiralty:—

THE ARMY

DIRECTOR OF MOVEMENTS AND QUARTERING

The War Office announces the following appointments:—
Colonel (temporary Brigadier) T. S. Riddell-Webster, D.S.O., Aide-de-Camp to the King, to be Director of Movements and Quarters, the War Office, with effect from April 1, 1938.

Lieutenant-Colonel A. G. Cunningham, D.S.O., M.C., Royal Artillery, to be Commander, Royal Artillery, 1st Division, with effect from December next.

ENLISTMENTS OVERSEA

While the existing recruiting continues applicants overseas who wish to join a non-local unit will be given special facilities. A limited number of recruits may be trained in local garrisons. Enlistment of men in India for the cavalry will be for horsed regiments only. Men other than skilled tradesmen for whom an indulgence passage can be provided may be sent home for enlistment.

SENIOR OFFICERS' COURSE

The following officers have taken the Senior Officers' Course at the Small Arms School, Ahmednagar Wing:—

Lieutenant-Colonels F. W. Bewsher, D.S.O., O.B.E., M.C., C. H. Gatto, D.S.O., M.C., D. S. Davidson, B. Cuff, R. M. Grazebrook, O.B.E., M.C., and M. Middleton; Majors R. A. O. Smith, M.C., E. P. O. Boyle, M.V.O., G. W. F. Leicester, L. C. Evans, F. O. Volgin, G. W. Kennedy, M.C., F. S. Maxwell, G. F. Faulkner, and L. A. Davies.

RELIEFS FOR PALESTINE

The reliefs for Palestine are likely to be carried out between the middle of November and first week of January.

The 1st Battalion, The Green Howards, and the 1st Battalion, The Border Regiment, will be the first to go, followed by 1st Battalion, The Royal Scots, and the 2nd Battalion, The Royal Ulster Rifles. These units will form the 14th Infantry Brigade in Palestine, under Brigadier H. C. Harrison, D.S.O.

THE GREYS

Mr. Hore-Belisha, Secretary of State for War, has received an appeal against the mechanisation of The Royal Scots Greys from Sir Murdoch MacDonald, M.P., in the following terms:—"I do hope you can announce that there is no intention to mechanize the Scots Greys. I need hardly tell you that in the hearts of all my fellow-countrymen there are two outstanding units—the Scots Greys and the Black Watch. Anything which touches them touches a very tender spot in their feelings. I do ask you to have regard to that feeling, and to leave Scotland with at least one cavalry regiment. I have heard a rumour that it is contemplated that four cavalry regiments should be kept in being. I do hope one of these will be Scotland's own Greys, and I do so not only because of the feeling I have referred to but also because the machine cannot yet conquer all kinds of terrain, and although the horse also has disadvantages in many respects yet in others it can be of great value where the machine is useless. This applies to many parts of Britain, and to Scotland in particular."

ROYAL AIR FORCE

SQUADRON LEADER IAN CULLEN

Squadron Leader Ian Cullen, M.B.E., A.F.C., has retired after 23 years' service, of which 21 have been spent with the R.F.C. and R.A.F.

FLIGHTS TO SYRIA

It is revealed in official notes on the work of overseas commands that four aircraft of No. 53 (Bomber) Squadron, then stationed at Hinaldi, Iraq, proceeded to Syria in July on a four-day visit to the French Air Force at Rayak, and returned via Rutbah. This was one of a series of visits which were made during the summer months on the invitation of the French air officer commanding. While in Syria the flight visited a number of French landing grounds.

STAFF APPOINTMENTS

Wing Commander O. R. Gayford, D.F.C., A.F.C., from the Directorate of Operations and Intelligence, Air Ministry, has been appointed for air staff duties with No. 2 (Bomber) Group, Andover; and Wing Commander L. G. Harvey, from the Experimental Establishment at Farnborough, joins the Directorate of Repair and Maintenance, Air Ministry.

APPOINTMENTS

The following appointments are notified in the "Government Gazette":—

Mr. T. Megarry to be Principal Assistant Colonial Secretary and Clerk of Councils, with effect from November 12.

Mr. B. C. K. Hawkins to be Deputy Clerk of Councils, with effect from November 12.

Mr. L. R. Andrewes to be Official Receiver in Bankruptcy and Registrar of Trade Marks and Patents, with effect from October 9.

It is also notified that the King's Exequatur empowering Mr. Addison Elwood Southard to act as Consul-General of the United States of America at Hong Kong has received His Majesty's signature.

Another notification states that Mr. Wallace J. Hansen, Honorary Consul for the Republic of Finland at Hong Kong, resumed charge of the Finnish Consulate on November 5.

TENDERS INVITED

Tenders are being invited for construction of Cheung Chau Beacon Light.

The work comprises the construction of a Beacon Light on the rocks off Cheung Chau to replace the light destroyed by the September 2 typhoon.

Tenders are invited by Government for improvement of the road to Sha Tin Pass.

The contract comprises the surfacing of the road between Chuk Yuen and Sha Tin Pass with 6 inch cement concrete, together with any necessary widening and other contingent works.

FINE CHARITY CONCERT

Valuable Acquisition To Local Music Circles

The Great Hall of the University was packed with enthusiastic listeners on Saturday night when an excellent concert was presented by local amateurs in aid of war relief. The concert was organised by Mr. Li Chor-chi, and held under the auspices of the Hong Kong Students' Relief Association.

The honours of the evening undoubtedly go to Mrs. Leo Roet, mezzo-soprano, who sang several songs, all of which were received with thunderous applause. Mrs. Roet has not been in Hong Kong for a long time, and last night she made her first appearance in public. She possesses a really fine voice, full, round and sonorous, but perhaps even more important is the fact that she has an admirable gift for interpretation. All these points, and the ease and polish of her singing, suggest that she must have received a fine training.

All her four songs were delightful, but the best of all was "My Message" (D'Hardelot), which she sang to satisfy the insistent demand for an encore. Her delicate restraint and intelligent handling of this charming little ballad is deserving of the highest commendation.

Z.B.W. PLEASE NOTE!

Mr. Li Chor-chi sang "M'appari tutto amor" (Donizetti) and "Lolita" (Buzzi-Peccia), and a duet, "Song of Songs" (Moya), with Mrs. Roet. Mr. Li was in good voice, and sang well.

One of the highlights of the evening was the performance of the trio consisting of piano (Mr. Clement Leong, L.T.C.T.), violin (Mr. Harold Leong) and piano accordion (Mr. Wong Ching Kuen). They rendered two exceedingly moving Spanish pieces. Z.B.W. please note!

Mr. Clement Leong, moreover, contributed two piano solos, Gavotte (Gluck-Brahms) and Humoresque (Rachmaninoff). The latter was in the bombastic modern style, slightly reminiscent of De Falla in his furious moments. Mr. Leong displayed a firm and sure touch, and his performance, though perhaps somewhat devoid of feeling, was nevertheless quite enjoyable.

Mr. Oswald Lyen pleased with two violin solos, which were very well executed, and Mr. Andrew Chan's Hawaiian Troubadours delighted everyone with several typical melodies.

The Chinese Philharmonic Orchestra, under the conductorship of Prof. F. Gonzalez, played selections from "The Bohemian Girl," "The Desert Song" and other pieces. This newly organised orchestra is improving with each appearance in public, and with a little more practice and the inclusion of a few more vital instruments, it should form a great asset to Hong Kong's musical life. Miss Norah Flint and Mr. Clement Leong were the talented accompanists of the evening, which was an unqualified success.

Man Robs Three Days After Release

Four months' hard labour was the sentence imposed on Ching Kong, 28, unemployed when he appeared before Mr. R. A. D. Forrest at the Central Magistracy on Saturday.

Only three days out of prison, Ching entered the third floor of No. 148, Johnston Road, and stole a jacket, a pair of trousers, a felt hat, and a wallet containing $5.41 belonging to Lam Shing, a carpenter, who was asleep in the floor, on November 12.

Inspector A. V. Baker said Lam was in the house as a caretaker, as it was a vacant floor, and early in the morning he saw Ching disappearing through the house-door.

JUNK INQUIRY REPORT

The Report of the Junk Inquiry Commission which, headed by Sir Atholl MacGregor, sat in Hong Kong last month and collected evidence of an alleged attack on a fleet of fishing junks by a Japanese submarine, left on Saturday on the R. M. A. Dorado for London, where a decision will be made by the Secretary of State regarding any publicity, which may be given, or the findings.

No decision has been reached yet as to whether the results of the Inquiry will be made public, and the verdict on this point will be given in London after the Report has been studied there.

CHINESE RECAPTURE FENGKINGCHEN

Shanghai, Nov. 14. In a counter-offensive, the Chinese troops recaptured Fengkingchen and its station on the Shanghai-Hangchow Railway on November 12. Kashan is still in the hands of the Chinese troops.

This success has the effect of removing the threat to Wangkangchen on the Soochow-Kashan Railway.

The Japanese are making a stand at Chuenkungting near Hangchow Bay and west of Chinshanwei. A Chinese report stated that Chuenkungting was also recaptured by the Chinese troops.

SHANGHAI'S NEW DANGER

November 14, 1937

The sighs of relief which foreign residents in Shanghai breathed when the end of hostilities around the Settlement seemed to be in sight with the withdrawal of the Chinese troops to their new lines, have now turned to gasps of apprehension at the sudden prospect of a new and far more terrifying danger in the encirclement of the entire area by a large Japanese force, estimated to exceed 120,000 in strength, which may in the pursuit of its aims become so assertive as to form a real menace to the peace and safety of the Settlement.

To a Japanese report that "in view of the increased Japanese influence in the sectors north of Soochow Creek, the Council is contemplating an increase in the number of Japanese officials on the Council," the Shanghai Municipal Council on Wednesday, through a spokesman, issued an immediate denial. The report was at the same time a feeler, and an intimidation; and although the Council's attitude seems to be unaffected by the unusual situation that has been created, there is every reason to suspect that the Japanese, with confident awareness of their military ascendancy in the area, will if necessary make positive use of that advantage to force compliance with any demands which they may choose to make.

General Matsui has in effect given a nasty tang to the threat by declaring himself "master of Shanghai" and delivering an open snub to the commanders of foreign defence forces who jointly sought his co-operation in the matter of maintaining the Settlement's neutrality. It is plainly evident from the statements attributed to him that he intends to have his way in Shanghai regardless of the feelings or policies of the Settlement authorities.

The avowed intentions of the Japanese militarists are such that nothing short of an abject "kow-tow" to their desires will enable the powers in the Settlement to sit back with some assurance of immunity. Since there are many legitimate interests in Shanghai which cannot possibly be bound by Japanese dictates, the situation, therefore, is fraught with unpleasant possibilities.

The matter of greater Japanese representation on the Council may be easy of solution, but other issues which constitute an inevitable corollary to Japanese control may very well cause Shanghai's doom.

At present the prospect is very gloomy, and the more foreign interests concede to Japan, the more will those militaristic absolutists demand. Their gluttony is proverbial. Possibly if they swallowed Shanghai they would still be hungry.

Shanghai bids fair to become an international cockpit unless, of course, the foreign powers take firm and concerted action. Have they the courage?

CHINA'S BLOOD BATH

China's predicament is a reflection on civilization. No nation has ever received such a shocking blood bath in such a short time as has been the case with China—yet she is uncompromising, even though the world wastes time talking, and talking to no useful purpose. Hundreds of towns and villages have been ravaged; hundreds of thousands of Chinese citizens have been slaughtered; the loss in actual wealth can never be even roughly estimated. On top of all this Japan has the brazen effrontery to order the rest of the world to keep out of this conflict which she feels perfectly capable of settling in her own way and in her own time. Furthermore, Japan has commenced to dictate—dictate, mark you—terms and conditions to China, terms and conditions which are insulting to the intelligence and exasperatingly humiliating in conception, tone and delivery.

Throughout, Japan has done the bulk of the talking and all the attacking. China has remained comparatively silent and conscientiously on the defensive. China has taken her great suffering with truly great dignity. Even when there was the opportunity, and most certainly the justification, for parading her woes at the Brussels Conference, China was content to adopt a stoical philosophy which has earned for her a considerably enhanced reputation richly merited. All that, however, does not stop the Japanese depredations. On they come, desolating a once smiling countryside, harassing a once contented, industrious, peaceful populace. They have intimidated through their leaders in that portion of China which they have invaded, that they will not relent or relax in their diabolical plan of ruining China unless China is willing to accept Japan's terms, in which case China would merely ruin herself. Above all it is significant that China has remained eloquently silent. In the eyes of China, Japan is beneath contempt.

It is generally well-known by now that it is the firm and unalterable policy of China to see this miserable business right through to the very end. China will never surrender one inch of land or one single right without making a very practical protest.

Meanwhile, China is very carefully taking stock of those nations which have expressed sympathy for her in her great trial. How much of the sympathy of certain nations for China is just sheer lip-service is not very difficult to discern. China does not want the soft words of "friendly" nations. She wants proof, and proof by action.

Japan knows that she has not only a more difficult military problem in tackling North China than she had in Manchuria, but a much less justified case in international law. If mediation be rejected, there are steps the powers can take which might be effective and might not involve war. Withdrawal of ambassadors would be an early one. The possibilities of boycotts or sanctions are undoubtedly being explored. But such measures will not be likely unless the powers show much more readiness to take some risks. Even those risks will be smaller if China continues the diplomacy of Yuanping.

BAND CONCERT

JAVA CHINESE CEREMONY

A wedding of much interest to the Chinese community of the Netherland East Indies took place at the Registry yesterday morning, the contracting parties being Miss Ka Joo Lim, daughter of M. T. K. Lim, prominent business man of Java, and Mr. Te Bek Tjauw.

The ceremony was conducted by Mr. W. A. Jones, Deputy Registrar of Marriages, and was witnessed by Messrs. Hsu Han Yeh and Tso Kwai-shing.

Mr. and Mrs. T. K. Lim, the bride's father and mother, and Mrs. H. P. Kho were also present.

Shanghai Girl Weds Hong Kong Resident

Miss Margaret Chan, daughter of the late Mr. Chi Lai Chan and Mrs. Chan of Shanghai, was married here yesterday afternoon in the Roman Catholic Cathedral, Calne Road, to Mr. Yip Ping Hung, son of Mr. and Mrs. Yip Wing Cho of Hong Kong. The ceremony was performed by Father G. M. Spada, who was assisted by two altar boys.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle Mr. K. W. Chan. She wore a charming bridal gown of ivory satin, with a long train and a high neckline, trimmed with ruchings on a shirred bodice. Her tulle veil was fastened to a platted halo of satin, and was embroidered round the border. She carried a bouquet of white flowers.

Miss Ida Ma, her maid of honour, wore a pink satin frock cut on straight lines, with high stand-up collar and short sleeves. She carried a bouquet of pink marguerites tied with silver ribbon.

The bridesmaids were Miss Katherine Chan and Miss Evelyn Chun, and their gowns were also of pink satin, with peplum, shirring on bodice and high neckline. They carried sheaves of gladioli. Babe Liang acted as flower girl, and Master Yip was page boy.

The bride's mother was dressed in a gorgeous Chinese gown, elaborately embroidered in gold, silver and other pastel shades, over a red skirt and black jacket ground. Mr. Anthony Fan was best man.

The ceremony was attended by the many friends and well-wishers of the bride and groom, and the church was prettily decorated with white chrysanthemums and pink dahlias.

The reception which followed was held at 7 p.m. in the Sun Kee Yuen Restaurant.

If Gossip We Must

Dear Cynthia,

Better news from Shanghai at last and in the bustle of packings-up and seeings-off, I have had very little time for the usual galeities.

The Gripes on Saturday night was crowded and cheerful but, alas, full of strange faces. I saw Miss Clarke dancing in a pretty brown frock and Mrs. Whitham looking delightful in wine-red.

Mrs. Hodgkinson wore a lovely black frock.

I was struck with Mrs. Grey's delightful green frock. The colour suits her fair hair admirably.

Mrs. Robinson wore black effectively.

There were many black and Navy frocks a refreshing change after the long months of summery colours.

Mrs. Tinson looked most graceful in a slender blue dress which was infinitely becoming.

Miss Stevens was in black with a design in bold reds and greens.

Mrs. Steele wore white entirely unrelieved with any colour. With her lovely blonde colouring the effect was most striking. I feel that this is a most inadequate letter, dear Cynthia, but the weather is so lovely now that I have gone all "out door" and am more concerned with my golf handicap than with night life.

Yours,

ELSPETH

THE BUTCHER-KRUGER
WEDDING.

The Peak Church was beautifully decorated for the wedding on Saturday of Miss Kathleen Kruger and Mr. Roy Butcher.

The bride, who has only recently come to the Colony, wore a lovely dress of silver lame. Her long veil was held in place by a coronet and she carried a charming bouquet of tuberoses.

Miss Muriel Fardell, her bridesmaid, wore pink net over a slip of pastel brocade. The small train-bearer, Master Kerr, was dressed delightfully in a bubbles suit of white satin.

Sir Vandeleur Grayburn gave the bride away and Mr. J. Fielden, the well-known polo player, was best man.

A reception was later held at the residence of Sir Vandeleur Grayburn where a large number of friends gathered to wish the young couple all happiness.

LLOYD GEORGE IS OPTIMISTIC

"No War For Years," He Says

"Those who think we are going to have immediate war with Germany have not taken the trouble to examine the conditions there."

So declared Mr. Lloyd George when the debate on the motion for an Address in reply to the King's Speech was resumed in the House of Commons, states the "Bulletin."

Mr. Lloyd George reviewed the plans and ambitions of Signor Mussolini and Herr Hitler as he judged them.

"Don't imagine that Mussolini's Caesarian ambitions are confined to achieving victory for General Franco," he shouted to an intent Assembly.

He suggested that both Italy and Germany were fortifying the best strategic positions in the Mediterranean and elsewhere, but it would be years before they could enter a war with any chance of success.

"Basest Fraud Ever"

In reference to non-intervention, Mr. Lloyd George said—"It has gone on for 14 months. Its history is discreditable in many many respects and in most respects dishonourable. It is definitely dishonourable in so far as nations have broken faith. It is discreditable to the intelligence of those who permitted it and still remained members of that body."

We were now probably on the eve of the decisive battle in Spain to decide the fate of that country, and probably the fate of Europe, and if the aim of non-intervention was to give an unfair and undue advantage to the insurgents and the Fascists in this battle then non-intervention had been a complete success.

"The fact of the matter is that this Committee of Non-intervention is the greatest and the basest fraud and deception ever perpetrated by great nations upon a weak people."

If the object of non-intervention was to place Britain and France at a great disadvantage in any future war then it had been a triumph.

Mussolini had said that there would be no immediate war, but he would not guarantee that there would not be war ultimately.

"Do not imagine," he declared, "that Mussolini's Caesarian ambitions are confined to achieving victory for General Franco. He won't make war now—neither he nor his ally is quite ready."

While the dictators were building up their reserves they were securing the most menacing, threatening, and formidable strategic positions. Mussolini was pouring troops into Libya, interfering in Palestine, fortifying positions in the Red Sea, putting air and submarine bases in the Balearic Islands and in the Canaries, and placing German guns in the Straits of Gibraltar.

"Is he doing that," asked Mr. Lloyd George, "merely to achieve victory for General Franco?"

He would ask all patriotic members of the House whether they thought that the strategic position of the British Empire in the event of war was as good now as it was five years ago.

"If democracy is beaten in this battle, whatever the consequences, at any rate Fascism emerges triumphant."

"If Fascism is triumphant in this battle the British Government can claim that victory for itself."

Mussolini had made a great pretence that he was fighting the "Reds" in Spain. The Anarchists had gone and the Spanish Government had become a more moderate one. Yet more guns and troops had gone in.

"He is not thinking about fighting the 'Reds.' He is fighting the 'Yellows' wherever he meets them," he declared.

"Above all, what he wants is dominion in the Mediterranean and North Africa, the reconstruction of an Empire, and in order to achieve that he has got to outmanoeuvre France and Britain, the two great democratic countries, and he has been fortunate enough to have a Government in this country that helps him." (Opposition cheers.)

INTERVIEWS WITH HITLER DENIED

Chinese And Japanese
Representatives

London, Nov. 13.

Considerable speculation has been aroused by reports appearing in the Continental press endeavouring to link up the presence in Berlin of General Chiang Kai-shek's representative, with the visit to the German capital of Colonel Takamachi, of the China department of the Japanese General Staff.

Reports have appeared in several newspapers that both military officers have held long and important conversations with Herr Hitler.

The implication apparently is that Herr Hitler is interviewing both men separately, with the aim of reaching some common basis for mediation.

Herr Hitler's reported interviews with the two officers, however, are strongly denied in Berlin official quarters, where it is emphatically stated that the Fuehrer has seen neither officer up to the present.

General Chiang Kai-shek. It will be recalled, stated in Brussels a few days ago that he would pay a short visit to Berlin after which he would return to Rome and again visit Berlin, on November 24.

It is added that he is making his European trip as a private individual, and that there is no official angle to his tour.—International News Agency.

FIRE BRIGADE DISPLAY

The Annual Drill Display of the Hong Kong Fire Brigade will take place on the compound of the No. 2 Police Station, Lockhart Road, Wanchai, at 3 p.m. on Thursday, the 18th November, 1937.

H.E. the Governor and Lady Northcote have intimated their intention to attend. The Public are cordially invited to attend and witness the Display.

WILL U.S. ACT AGAINST JAPAN?

Europe Looks To Washington For Lead

"Japan's reply has caused widespread surprise," says the Sunday Times in an editorial to-day.

"It was expected she would close the door, but not that she would slam it. What the conference does depends on the United States; where she leads Britain will co-operate, and what the United States does depends on public opinion."

"Japan's aim," continues the Journal, "is to obtain a subservient China which will reserve for her its trade and resources and exclude white influence in the Orient. If any exceptions are made they will favour Italy and Germany. The United States would be excluded from the Asiatic coasts and the Pacific Ocean and be confronted there by an aggressive and most powerful military nation which, in due course, will menace her on her own side of the water in Central and South America."

DEFENDING THE EAST

"It is, therefore, for Washington to say whether anything should be done now. The European Powers are much preoccupied in Europe."

Japan has timed her action in reference to that. Therefore, in any positive policy America must take the lead," concluded the Journal.

The Diplomatic correspondent of the Sunday Times understands that since the outbreak of hostilities in China certain arrangements for co-operation in the defence of Eastern possessions have been reached between Britain and Holland. These arrangements are believed to be the result of talks held in the Far East between British and Dutch naval authorities.

The correspondent adds that it is vital to British interests that the Netherlands East Indies does not lie in the hands of a potentially hostile Power. Reuter.

BENEVOLENT SOCIETY

Appeal For Funds.

(To the Editor, "The Hong Kong Daily Press")

Sir.—Knowing as we do the many and urgent calls upon your space we, the Executive and Committee of the Hong Kong Benevolent Society, yet venture to ask your kind help in giving publicity to the serious state of our funds at the present time.

Refugees may come and go and other unusual funds may call for money that people readily subscribe, but it is important that the regular "Social Service" of the Colony should still receive support; the Hong Kong poor are always with us; their numbers tend to increase as our resources dwindle. We have a bleak prospect before us this winter and we hope very fervently that we shall not have to cut down upon our regular applicants, or fail to make their Christmas that little extra pleasure that it has been hitherto and which means so much in their drab lives.

Residents in the Colony know the work of this old-established Society well, and have supported it generously, but for the benefit of newcomers it may be well to state briefly the aims of the Society and the work it undertakes.

It exists to help down-and-outs other than Chinese (the latter having their own charitable institutions) but the majority of our applicants being of mixed nationality many Chinese names appear on our books. Perhaps the most important work is done through education and in this we are greatly helped by those schools and convents which take our children at reduced fees. At the present moment the Society is educating 53 children, of whom only a mere handful are day boarders. Then apart from temporary relief, there are cases receiving monthly allowances; others have their rent paid; others again have their monthly compradores' books settled for them.

The Society maintains accommodation in Kowloon where cases can be lodged and boarded until rooms can be found, or until their crisis is passed. If possible, work is found for men and women, but this part of our activities gets more and more difficult as time goes on. Voyages are paid and landing money given in a few cases, sometimes in conjunction with one (or more) charitable societies. Clothing is given in every case and orders for shoes on a local firm if none in our cupboards are found to fit.

It must be pointed out that every case is subjected to the closest investigation and in this we receive invaluable assistance from the "Special Branch" of the Hong Kong Police. There is also a Men's Advisory Committee of the Society, which meets when called upon to do so.

A word as to funds: the Society receives an annual grant from the Colonial Government, regular grants from the Sporting Clubs and Societies, income from certain bequests and from life memberships, special donations and "In Memoriam" gifts. For all this our expenses this year have been such that we view with grave anxiety the two or three months that must elapse before our annual appeals go out.

The best way, in the long run, to help the Society is by becoming an annual subscriber. But owing to the unusual circumstances of this half year, we should be most grateful for donations now, however modest. The need is urgent.

A copy of the Annual Report for 1936 will gladly be forwarded on application to the Honorary Secretary of the Society, 11 Ice House Street.—Yours, etc.

AMERICAN LADY KILLED

Peking, Nov. 13.

Mrs. Vernon Clark, the American wife of the Peking manager of the Asiatic Petroleum Company, died last night as the result of injuries received when she was thrown from her pony while out riding.

Mrs. Clark was married only three months ago, and came to Peking with her husband from Tientsin recently.—Reuter.

Brussels Declaration Must Be Carefully Studied But Eleven States Already Voice Approval

Brussels, November 14.

When the Conference re-met Count Aldrovandi said that the Italian Government required more time to consider the declaration but he did not think it possible that his Government would support the declaration, either in part or as a whole.

The Portuguese, Mexican, Dutch and Australian representatives favoured the declaration and the last named warmly supported the speech of Mr. Norman Davis and defended the rights of the different peoples to choose their own Governments.

Mr. Norman Davis together with the French, British and Canadian delegates also contested the desirability of any further elucidation of the Japanese reply. The Conference, therefore, took up the discussion, paragraph by paragraph, concluding with a general debate at 6.30 p.m. Eleven States have so far supported the declaration, Italy being the only dissident. The Conference adjourned at 8 p.m. until 4 p.m. on Monday.

With the completion of the discussion the President said that he would propose the declaration as adopted, subject to reference to the Governments concerned. Count Aldrovandi objected and contended that the document should merely be referred to the Governments. It is now understood that the Dutch support of the declaration was made with qualifications, purely of a verbal character. The Conference then decided the draft to the different Governments. It is open to amendment before it will be finally adopted by the Powers.—Reuter.

Dr. Wellington Koo Pleads China's Case

DELBOS WANTS SETTLEMENT BY PEACEFUL MEANS

Brussels, November 13: A vigorous appeal to the nineteen Powers represented at Geneva to withhold supplies from Japan and to send them to assist China, was made by Dr. Wellington Koo, the chief Chinese delegate, in a speech at the full session of the Conference which met at 11.20 this morning.

Dr. Koo, who spoke after the Japanese reply declining the invitation to confer with the sub-committee was read, said that after ten days the Conference found itself back where it started.

The last communication of the Conference, like the original invitation of the Belgian Government to Japan, was couched in most conciliatory terms, omitting all reference to the League of Nations, while the unanimous opinion of 51 nations on the invasion of China and the nature of Japan's military operations on Chinese territory were not even alluded to, "but neither the spirit of conciliation nor soft words are of any avail."

The refusal of the Japanese Government was another blunt refusal to collaborate in the interests of peace, and was more absolute than ever.

"Both the language and tone of the Japanese reply seem to indicate clearly that all painstaking efforts of the Conference to secure her collaboration in the cause of peace and respect of treaties have been taken as a sign of weakness, and served only to inspire her insolence."

DELIBERATE DISTORTION

Dr. Koo asserted that the reiterated claim that Japan's present action in China was resorted to as a measure of defence was not only a deliberate distortion of the meaning of a time-honoured term but made a mockery of the universal sentiment of justice and truth.

Even if the Japanese Government believed, which the Chinese delegation emphatically denied, that Japanese aggression in China was dictated by considerations of defence, it could in no way justify her claim that the matter lay outside the scope of the Nine-Power Treaty.

Dr. Koo added: "The full and frank communication envisaged by Article VII of the Treaty is intended for just such a situation."

BULLYING NATION

Dr. Koo emphasised that for four years the Chinese Government had patiently tried to reach a peaceful settlement with Japan on outstanding questions, and the present conflict was the result, "for every act of concession and every gesture of conciliation on the part of China was taken by Japan as a sign of fear and led to more bullying and brow-beating."

Dr. Koo said that the perpetual dual diplomacy practised by Japan through the Japanese Foreign Office and the Japanese army in her dealings with China, had convinced China of the danger and futility of direct negotiations. Replying to the statement that the present occurrences had their origin in conditions peculiar to the Far East, Dr. Koo said for their part they did not see before anything peculiar in the Far Eastern situation unless it be the Japanese methods of preserving peace in Asia by armed invasion of peaceful China.

Co-operation Desired

Whatever the conditions were—and they were of Japan's own creation—they were not beyond the purview of the Treaty but were proper subjects for discussion by the interested Powers.

The Chinese Government was convinced that co-operation of the Conference, far from exciting public opinion in the two countries and making it more difficult to reach a solution, would facilitate a settlement and inspire confidence in its justice and conformity with the principles of the Treaty.

Dr. Koo pointed out that the Powers of the Conference were asked by the Japanese Government to make a contribution to the stability of Eastern Asia in conformity with the new situation.

He asked: "Does it mean that the Conference should accept temporary changes brought about by force of arms and condone Japan's open violation of her treaty obligations as embodied in the Nine-Power Treaty and the Kellogg-Briand Pact?"

Dr. Koo added that was the language of the treaty breaker who wished to impose upon the Conference a fait accompli.

Principles At Stake

The issues of the present conflict were not confined to the territorial and political integrity of China.

The principle of respect for treaty obligations in the cause of peace, in which all nations rightly felt deep concern and interest, was at stake.

Dr. Koo proceeded by saying that China only asked to be left in peace and free from external aggression in order to pursue the tremendous task of political and economic reconstruction.

The Nine-Power Treaty had assured her of this opportunity and Japanese aggression had deprived her of it.

Will Always Resist

"We ask that Japanese aggression be stopped and the Nine-Power Treaty respected."

"It is a Treaty which all Powers party thereto have given a solemn obligation to uphold."

"China on her part has been fighting with the life and blood of her people to stop the Japanese invasion and uphold the Treaty."

"She is still exerting her utmost to defend her political and territorial integrity and to maintain the principles of the sanctity of treaties."

"So long as Japanese aggression persists, so long will China continue to resist."

"The Government and people of China are determined to fight the aggressor to the end."

Dr. Koo added: "Now that the door to conciliation and mediation has been slammed in your face by the latest reply of the Japanese Government, will you not decide to withhold supplies and war materials from Japan and extend aid to China?"

"It is, in our opinion, the most modest way in which you can pursue your obligations in helping to check Japanese aggression and to uphold the Treaty in question."

International Peace

"In order to shorten the duration of hostilities and hasten the restoration of peace, it is also necessary to refrain from contributing to the economic resources of the aggressor and from feeding dom will conduct their international policy. No other basis is acceptable to us."

CO-OPERATION SOUGHT

Mr. Eden added that His Majesty's Government would have sincerely welcomed Japanese co-operation at the conference and would have been glad to have heard statements by the Japanese on the Far East situation.

"We would really have entered into an unprejudiced examination of the problem with Japan and China. Unfortunately, they were unable to attend. Such exchange of views would have been proper, because the Nine-Power Treaty provides for it, and it would have been helpful as a means of reaching settlement."

"It remains the view of His Majesty's Government that such a settlement should be found in the interests of both China and Japan. His Majesty's Government are perfectly convinced that fruitful international relations could only result from general acceptance of international law."

SETTLEMENT BY FORCE

"In recent years, however, there has been a growing tendency to override that system and to attempt to achieve settlement of the dispute by force. Yet it is a matter of the greatest importance to nations who believe it to be the duty of all people to settle disputes by peaceful means, that such a system would be upheld. Indeed this is the fundamental issue which the world has to consider to-day."

The United States delegate, Mr. Norman Davis, said: "The corner stone of progress is the observance of undertakings solemnly given and solemnly received between nations. The question we are considering in its final analysis is whether international relations can be determined by arbitrary force or by law and respect for international treaties. This seems to me to be the greatest issue to the world to-day and one of the most monotonous problems that mankind has been called upon to solve."

him on an uninterrupted flow of arms and raw materials for his war industries."

Dr. Koo eloquently concluded: "International peace, if it is to be made durable must be defended, and the restoration and defence of peace in the Far East at present calls for concerted action of a moral, material and economic character on the part of the other participating parties at the Conference."

"Such action must also be timely, for if it is delayed too long, because of hesitation and doubt, then the violence and disorder now raging in the Far East will soon reach proportions which will be impossible to restrain and control without undergoing the trials and tribulations of another world war."

MR. NORMAN DAVIS

Mr. Norman Davis, the United States delegate, who followed Dr. Koo, opened with a declaration that if the conception of change by violence should prevail we should be faced by international anarchy.

Respect for treaties and observance of the pledged word is one immutable foundation on which the structure of peace can be built.

On no other basis can an equitable and lasting solution of the Sino-Japanese conflict be found.

INVITATIONS DECLINED

Japan had declined the invitation to the Conference, where they would have welcomed a full explanation of her side of the case regarding the incidents which led to outbreak of hostilities, as well as the underlying causes of the conflict.

She had equally and negatively replied to the invitation to depute a representative to exchange views with a small number of Powers chosen by the Conference.

Such an exchange of views would have been within the framework of the Nine-Power Treaty and in conformity with its provisions.

"Had Japan accepted," said Mr. Davis, "I am confident we could have been helpful to her as well as China."

"We hope that Japan will still see the way clear to co-operate in the Conference's effort to find a just and suitable solution by a voluntary and peaceful agreement."

M. YVON DELBOS

M. Yvon Delbos (France), speaking after Mr. Davis, rejected the idea of employment of force in settlement of the conflict.

The French Foreign Minister emphasised that the sole desire was to help both countries to come to a friendly working arrangement.

The Japanese reply had raised problems which the Conference would have to examine.

Anyhow, no compulsory solution could, either in right or practice, settle satisfactorily or enduringly the relations of those two countries.

Peace in the Far East, and also the peace of the world, was bound up in respect for international law.

MR. ANTHONY EDEN

Mr. Anthony Eden, the British Foreign Secretary, who followed M. Delbos, repeated that on the basis of respect of international law, the British Government will conduct their international politics.

He emphasised that his Majesty's Government would sincerely have welcomed Japanese co-operation in the Conference, and added it would have been glad to hear from Japan a statement of her views on the present conflict.

The Conference would have entered into close examination of the problems with her and China.

Such an exchange of views would have been proper, because the Nine-Power Treaty provided for it, and it would have been a helpful means of reaching an agreed settlement on the Far East.

SOLUTION MUST BE FOUND

It remained the view of his Government that in the interests of both China and Japan such a settlement should be found.

The British Government was profoundly convinced that true fruitful international relations would only result from general acceptance of international law.

Mr. Eden added: "We cannot accept that dislike for the government and political institutions of one nation justifies another nation interfering by force in its internal affairs."

"To admit that would be to deny the right of each nation to live its own life in peace and freedom, which is the prerogative of all people."

M. POTECHKIN

M. Potemkin (Soviet Russia) said that Russia would welcome a solution which provided an equitable and peaceful settlement in the Far East.

The Italian delegate said he had no contribution to make.

The Chairman, adjourning the Conference until 4.30 this afternoon, said that the text of the declaration drafted by the American, British and French would be distributed and discussed this afternoon.

Considerable opposition is expected to the declaration, and it is doubtful whether a settlement can be reached to-night. It is probable, in fact, that the discussions will extend to Monday.

FINANCIAL AID

Financial aid for China will be the next step by the nineteen Powers now conferring at Brussels, according to the Brussels correspondent of the "Daily Herald."

The correspondent asserts that this is the feeling even of the pessimists among the delegates.—Reuter.

CONDEMNATION OF JAPAN

Brussels, Nov. 13.

The text of the statement which will be discussed by the Nine-Power Conference this afternoon and which has already been approved in principle by the British, French, Belgian and American delegations, is not only expository but draws certain strong conclusions amounting to strong moral condemnation of Japan, and reaffirms violation of the Nine-Power Treaty.

No resolution yet accompanies the statement and this will probably be left until after the adjournment on which it is hoped to decide to-day.

It is expected that the statement will experience a somewhat laboured passage as Italy will not like to associate herself with any condemnation of the aggressor, while possibly some of the smaller States will also hesitate to come into the open.—Reuter.

TSUI WAI-PUI DEFEATED BY YOUNGER BROTHER

Exhibition Tennis Matches At Chinese R.C.

H.D. RUMJAHN HAS OFF DAY:
HUNG, PAUL KONG SHINE

The main feature of the series of exhibition tennis matches held by the Chinese Recreation Club on their ground at Causeway Bay yesterday in aid of the North China War Relief Fund was the defeat of Tsui Wai-pui, 1935 Colony singles champion and Davis Cup representative, by his younger brother, Tsui Yan-pui. It is true that the match was a single-set affair but this in no way detracts from the credit due to the younger Tsui for a fine achievement, as he showed a pronounced all-round superiority over his brother and was full value for his victory.

Financially this effort on the part of the C.R.C. was a success, a sum of over $800 was raised. Of this $310 was taken in a raffle for six tennis rackets, some $16 in auctioning of tennis balls used in the exhibition, and the rest were gate receipts. A spirit of enthusiasm and keenness prevailed and it was not uncommon to see spectators, buttonholed by one of the fair and busy ticket-sellers, part with a whole five or ten-dollar note promptly and cheerfully. S.A. Rumjahn, one of the two non-members who had consented to take part, was unavoidably prevented from doing so, and this caused some re-shuffling of the programme, but everything went off smoothly and spectators were treated to some fine tennis during the course of the afternoon.

THE CURTAIN-RAISER

The curtain-raiser was a doubles match between S. W. Wong and D. C. Luk and C. K. Chan and Seto Bick, the latter of Canton. The former pair were too markedly superior for the game to be really interesting but some good rallies were seen. Wong and Luk ran off to a long lead and kept it, winning at 6-2.

The next match, which might have been the best of the lot, turned out rather a disappointment. Tsui Wai-pui was opposed to H. D. Rumjahn, who has always required more than a set to get properly started and in the present instance the match was over before he had warmed up! Tsui ran off to a 3-love lead and looked like making it 4-love but one or two errors in this game plus a tightening up by H. D. made it 3-1 and thereafter the exchanges were more closely fought-out, though Tsui always had something in hand. He eventually won comfortably at 6-2.

PAUL KONG SHINES

Willie Hung, C. R. C. captain, now made his appearance to partner Tsui Wai-pui against Rumjahn and Paul Kong, and was greeted by a burst of applause. This game produced a higher standard of play than hitherto, and the Hard-court Doubles Champions were given a fight before winning at 8-6, their two experienced opponents offering stout resistance all the way. But for a lack of combination in critical rallies between Kong and Rumjahn, the game might have gone the other way. Kong was probably the best performer of the four, playing a steady and sound game while flashing out an occasional brilliant shot. Rumjahn was also pretty steady but at times fell below his usual standard. Hung made some remarkable retrieves and his volleying was as usual very fine, but Tsui was playing comparatively poor tennis.

In the next game, Tsui Yan-pui, partnering Paul Kong against Hung and Rumjahn, gave a hint of things to come in the next set with his brother. He mixed too many bad shots with his good ones, however, to be the outstanding player of the four and Kong was again probably the best performer, though Rumjahn, by now thoroughly warmed, up, ran him a close second. Hung appeared to be unable to settle down to an understanding combination and more than once down-the-middle shots by Tsui caught both him and his partner napping. The winners went off to a 3-1 lead, were pulled back to 3-2, then 4-3. Then some determined net-work by Rumjahn and Hung saw them draw level at 4-4. The spectators were just settling down to another long and hard-fought set, but it was not to be. Some forceful serving by Kong, who maintained a high standard in this department in all his matches, aided by good work at the net by young Tsui, made it 5-4, and in the next game Tsui reeled off three strokes and his partner took the fourth to finish the set.

PIECE DE RESISTANCE

The piece de resistance now took the court. Y. P. (to save time and confusion it is clearer to use their initials) seemed to have decided that if he was not to suffer the same fate as Rumjahn he would have to adopt a sustained policy of aggression and carry the war into W. P.'s camp. He followed this policy throughout and the result was some positively scintillating tennis. After the first four games, the end of which found Y. P. leading 3-1, W. P. obviously seeing the way things would go if he were not careful, went up to the net time after time on a length drive. Practically every time a beautifully-judged, perfectly executed passing shot left him stationary at the net and drew bursts of deserved applause. After the sixth game, which Y. P. won with a lucky not-corder to make the scores 4-2, W. P. retreated to the baseline and some driving duels were seen. These also mostly went in favour of the younger brother who at this stage was playing a really magnificent game. His back-hand, usually weak, was in perfect working order, he seldom missed a chance of an outright winner on the volley, but the best feature of his play was his speedy good length drives. He would drop a ball a little short, W. P. would come up to return it, to find the ball whipped back to the corner from which he was farthest at a speed which permitted of no retrieval.

At 30-all in the seventh game, W. P., thinking he had the other well beaten, casually put the ball over the net with a cut drop-shot and turned away for the next stroke. A burst of applause and a ripple of laughter, however, informed him that so far from being beaten his brother had got up to the ball and returned it for a winner. Y. P. then proceeded to make it 5-2 (against service) with a nicely-manoeuvred coup. By this time W. P. appeared to have given it up as a bad job and there was little surprise when the next game went to the younger brother for set and match.

That the victory was a popular one was evidenced by the applause that greeted Tsui Yan-pui as the two left the court.

BROTHERS WIN

After this, the last game, between the Tsui brothers and Rumjahn and Paul Kong was something of an anti-climax. It was not that the play was poor but the "human interest" was lacking. The brothers won more or less as they liked by 6 games to 2, W. P. giving his best display of the afternoon. Rumjahn was off-form, and though Kong again performed creditably, the former made too many mistakes for the combination to stand a chance. For all that the last three games produced some fine rallies and if H. D. had struck better form the Tsuis would certainly have been harder pressed.

It was on the whole a good afternoon's entertainment and spectators got their money's worth. Noticeable amongst the crowd of 300 or so were a number of Europeans, including a few servicemen.

CRICKET IN INDIA

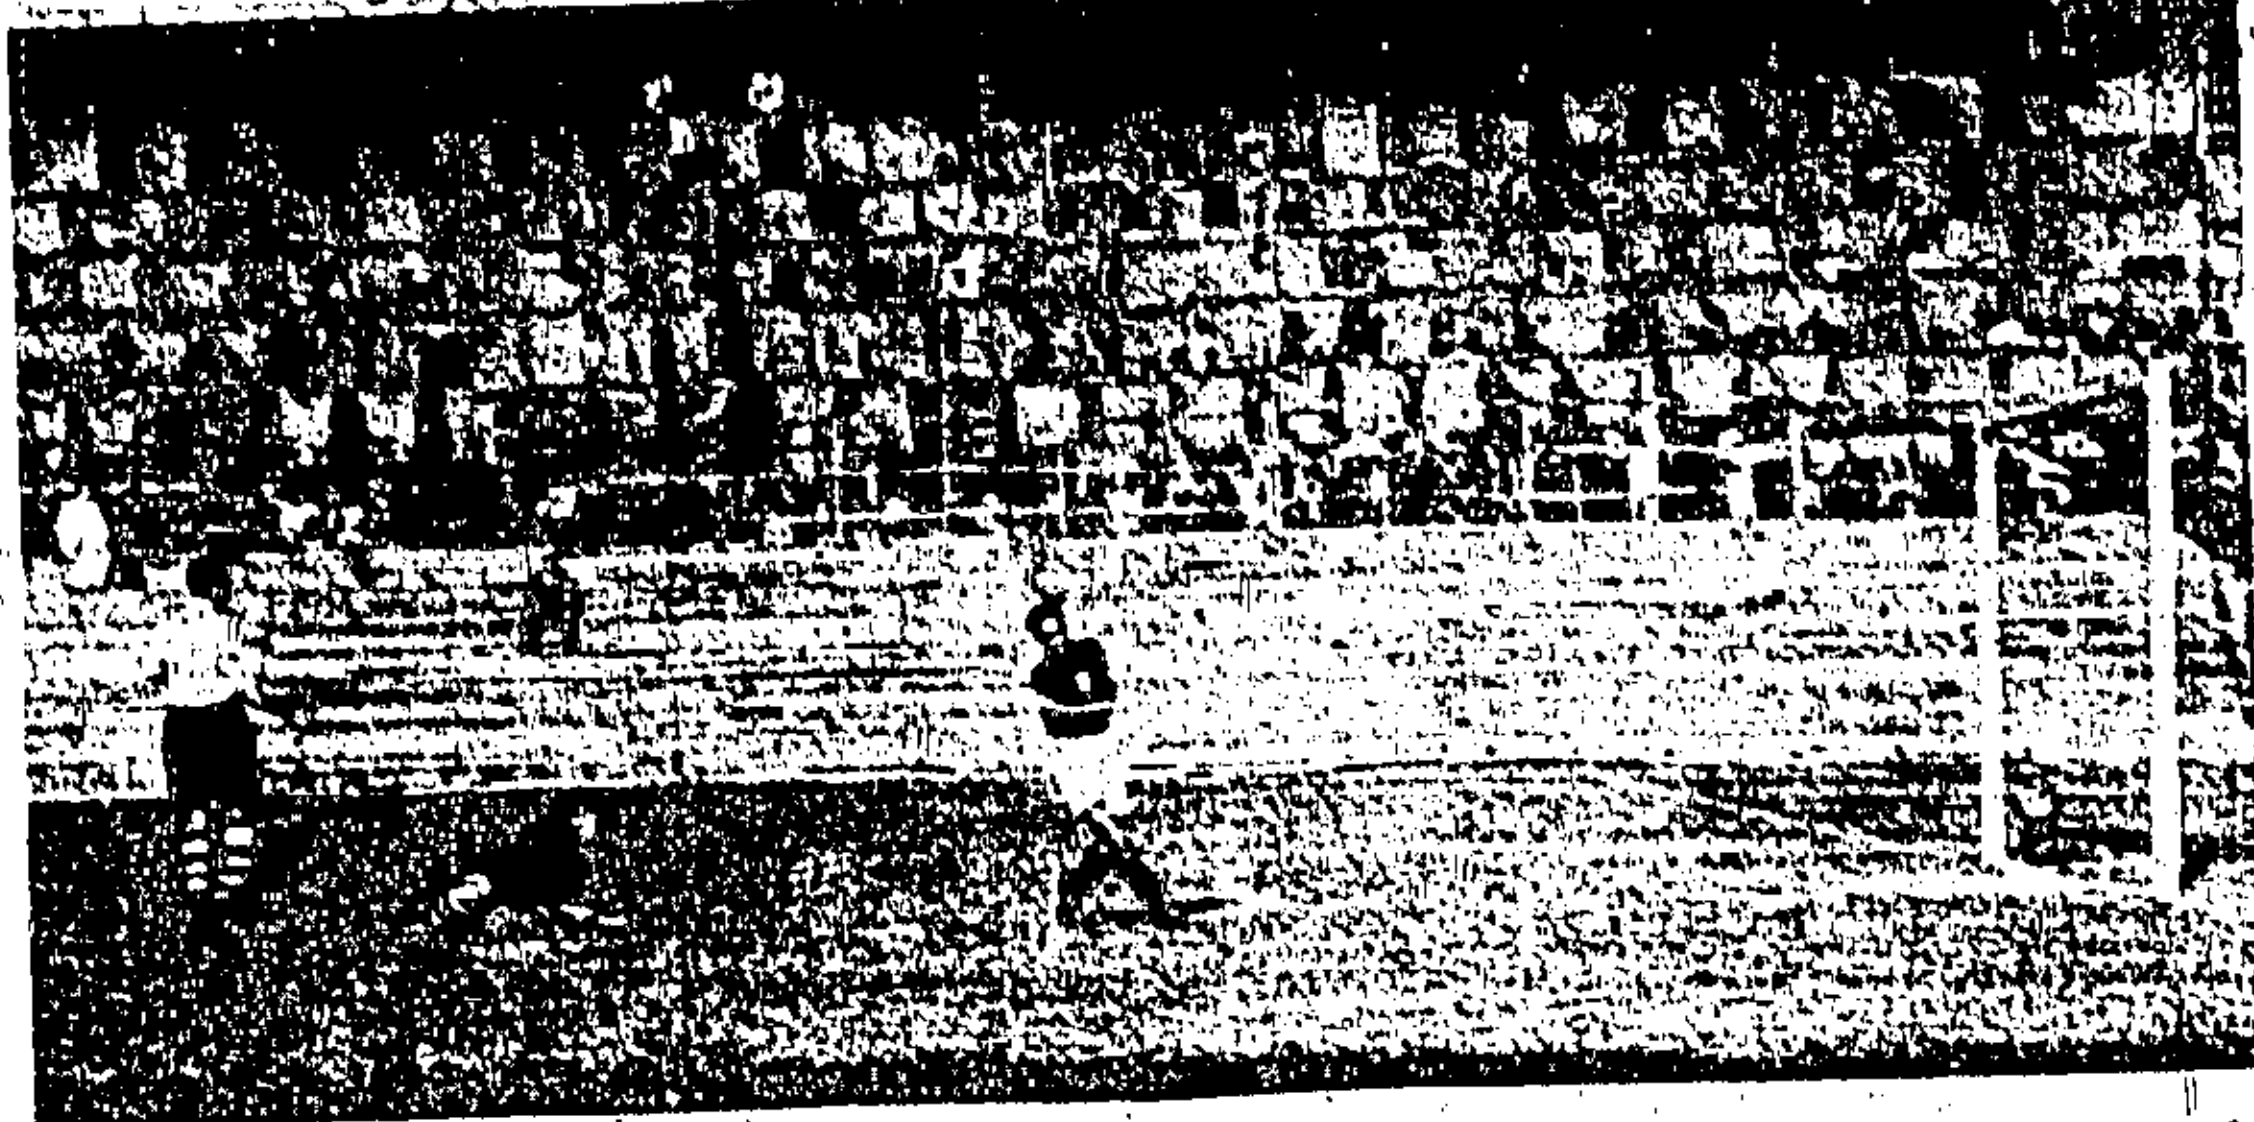

Unofficial "Test"

Lahore, Nov. 13. Lord Tennyson's touring eleven were in a good position at the end of the first day's play to-day in an unofficial Test Match against India, and when stumps were drawn were only 21 runs behind with only two wickets down.

N. W. D. Yardley, the youthful Yorkshire, and Cambridge amateur, scored 59 not out, while Gover of Surrey took six Indian wickets for only 40 runs.

Scores: India 121 (Yardley of Patiala 41 not out; Gover 5 for 40). Lord Tennyson's XI 100 for 2 (N. W. D. Yardley 58 not out).

SCHMELING'S FIGHT WITH THOMA

Berlin, Nov. 13. "After I fight Thoma in New York on December 13, I shall return to Germany to begin training for my bout with the South African, Ben Foord, at Hamburg on January 13." This statement was made today by Max Schmeling, former heavyweight champion of the world, in an interview with the "Zwoelf Uhr Blatt."

Schmeling said he hoped to fight Joe Louis for the world title in June, and denied reports that he would meet his countryman, Walter Neusel.

Referring to his coming fight with Thoma, Schmeling was optimistic, saying that while crossing the Atlantic on the "Bremen," he had trained and walked at least eight kilometres round deck every day.

"I am very fit," he concluded "and further training for my Madison Square Garden appearance should not be difficult."

FINE SHOOTING BY MILLER

Wins "Nett" Spoon At Week-End Event

The second week-end shoot held by the Hong Kong Rifle Association this season took place on Saturday afternoon, on the naval range at Stonecutters, by courtesy of the naval authorities. Unfortunately, members of the H.K.V.D.C. were unable to attend owing to the annual camps.

The conditions for shooting were good, although scoring on the whole was somewhat on the low side. The nett and handicap spoons in the S.R. (b) series were won by Corp. L. G. Miller and Corp. D. James respectively, while that awarded for the best handicap score made with the S.R. (a) rifle was taken by Pte. Rawling.

The leading scores are as follows:—

S.R. (b)		Score at Aggregate
Ass'n.	200 Yds.	500 Yds.	600 Yds.	score	Nett
1.—Cpl. Miller	2	33	32	28	93*

3.—Cpl. James	2	28	31	30	89†
4.—Rfn. Managh	1	30	30	29	89
5.—E.R.A. Haynes	scr.	26	31	31	88
6.—E.R.A. Seymour	2	27	31	29	87

All the above competitors used the "1914" rifle.

S.R. (a)

Ass'n.	200 Yds.	500 Yds.	600 Yds.	score	Nett
1.—A.R. Looker	—	28	26	28	80

CHINESE DRAW FIRST BLOOD

Governor's Cup Football

A fast and sparkling game, with the play at times bordering on the brilliant, saw the Chinese Amateur Athletic Federation draw first blood in the Governor's Cup football match against the Hong Kong Football Association at Sookunpoo yesterday.

Good football was played throughout by both sides, but the team work of the Chinese was better and this was the deciding point in the final tally of five goals to three in their favour. This was fully deserved, although perhaps a half-time score of three-two would have been a fairer reflection of the game at that stage than the actual score of 3-1.

For the winners Hau Ching-to (2), Chan Tak-fai (2) and Lai Shu-wing scored, but perhaps the two best goals were those headed in by Fowler for the F. A. Coakeley added the losers' third point.

RUGBY FOOTBALL

A very fast game on the Club ground yesterday saw the Army first fifteen beat the Club by 23 points to 9 in a Rugby Football match in which the winners' superiority in most departments was well evident. The Army fielded a very strong side, whereas six of the Club's regular players were absent.

Feature of the game was the work of Watts in the Club three-quarter line, his speed, defence and tackling at times reaching a very high standard. He was also seen in several sole attempts to get through but these were not successful.

At half-time the Army were leading by 18 points to three.

Teams:—
Club XV:—J. P. Whitham (Captain), H. Van Leeuwen, M. W. MacGrath, E. Watts, and D. Campbell; D. Lyle and Rutherford; R. G. Geer, K. A. Salter, D. Olsen; A. W. Holden, A. G. Dalziel, H. W. E. Heath, A. J. C. Taylor and J. K. Birt.

Army XV:—Fus: Ayrton; Pte. Peachey, Capt. Maisey, 2-Lt. Gudgeon and 2/Lt. Chiverrill; Pte. Rainey and Sgt. Bailey; Pte. Boasted, Pte. Knowles, Spr. Rumball; Lt. MacLagan, Lt. Crawford; Cpl. Harrison, Capt. R. D. Gillespie (Captain) and L/Cpl. Burrell.

HOCKEY RESULTS

Leading by one goal to nil in the first half, the "Y" Ladies started their Caer Clark Cup season by a brilliant win over St. Andrew's Ladies, when they piled on four goals in the second half to secure a smashing victory by five clear goals.

The whole team played well but the left wing combination of Miss Smith and Miss Westcott was outstanding. For the losers Mrs. Rose in goal, brought off many fine saves, but at the same time one or two of the goals against her looked comparatively easy.

On the form displayed yesterday the "Y" Ladies are going to take a lot of beating.

Another big victory in the Caer Clark series was that scored by the

RIDING SCHOOL GYMKHANA

Brilliant weather and a fair gathering of spectators guaranteed the success of the Kowloon Riding School's first gymkhana of the season, held yesterday. The technique of the pupils, particularly the younger ones, reflected great credit on Miss Joan Old and Miss Barbara Lord, who are responsible for their training.

The prize-list follows:—

NEW KIND OF dry rouge STAYS ON ALL DAY

...or all night! Savage Rouge, as your sense of touch will tell you, is a great deal finer in texture and softer than ordinary rouge. Its particles being so infinitely fine, adhere closely to the skin. In fact, Savage Rouge, for this reason, clings so insensibly, it seems to become a part of the skin itself... refusing to yield, even to the savage caresses its tempting smoothness and pulse-quickening color so easily invite. Try it. You'll see the difference instantly! Four lovely shades.

Weekly Market Report

Messrs. G. A. Harriman & Co's share report and market review issued on Friday night states:— Markets have been steady this week, but difficult. A welcome sign has been a revival of interest in the Shanghai Stock market and the substantial improvement therein in quotations for Cotton mill shares.

Manila continues a listless market, either way, within extremely narrow margins.

Further appreciation has taken place in the price of sterling descriptions and Hong Kong Bank shareholders must be gratified to see them up to $1700. Unions too are better at $52 1/2, sales, and further improvement in this popular investment share seems assured. Canton Ins. have risen to $270 and Fires to $260. Bank of East Asia are around $260.

In the Docks and Wharves section, H.K. & Whampoa Docks are available at $29, with $28 1/2 bid. Wharves had sales at $11 1/2 and close buyers, slightly under. Providents have released, to $22 1/2 and the new to 35 cts.

Hotels rose to $5.45, but closing transactions were done at $5.30. Lands have come up to $32. Humphreys are $3 1/2 and Realties $4.85, buyers. Trams have shaded off to $13 1/2 after sales at $14. Star Ferry offer at $83, with $82 bid and there are sellers of Yau Ma Tei at $25 1/2. China Lights (old) are either side of $11.70. Telephones (old) are $26 and the new $24. There has been no change in

China's Appeal Meets Ready Response

U.S. Red Cross Gives Financial Aid

Paris, Nov. 12.

An appeal by the Chinese Red Cross for urgent assistance is meeting with a ready response.

The American Red Cross has donated $5130,000, of which $100,000 will be expended in medical relief, and $30,000 for the evacuation of American and other nationals from China, states a bulletin of the League of Red Cross Societies.—Reuter.

UNALTERABLE FRIENDSHIP

Brazil Expect Collaboration

Rio de Janeiro, Nov. 12.

The new Government expects to receive the friendly collaboration of nations on whom it counts for sympathy and unalterable friendship, declared the Brazilian Foreign Minister in an address to the Diplomatic Corps to-night.

He explained that, neither the democratic regime nor the representative system would be affected by the promulgation of the new constitution.—Reuter.

PHILIPPINE MINING NEWS

BAGUIO MANKAYAN GOLD
Mining Company, Inc., was recently granted permit to sell its shares to the public by the Securities and Exchange Commission. The firm is capitalized at $500,000 divided into 50,000 shares at a par value of $10 a share. It will exploit 48 full mineral lode claims in Mankayan, Benguet, Mountain Province.

Extensive exploration work has been resumed in the property after work has been suspended for several months due to unfavorable weather conditions. The directors are Tomas Oppus, president; Mrs. Josefa R. Oppus, vice president; Mrs. Tomas E. Jimenez, secretary; Ildefonso Cuaderno, treasurer, and Juan Luna, general manager.

NORTH MINDANAO MINING
Company, Inc., has placed a $30,000 order with the Atkins and Kroll Company for the purchase of a Caterpillar dragline crane to be used in the Cansuran mine property, it was announced by D. E. Leonard, managing director. This was in line with the recommendation of the mining engineer to increase the monthly production of the corporation.

The administration also reports that the lode property in Lusak Boked, Mountain Province, under option is now undergoing intensive exploration. The laborers are working in 14 tunnels and the progress of the work was reported encouraging. There are about 345 feet advances completed with an assay ranging from trace to P34.

ARTIFICIAL WOOL

London, Nov. 13.

An increase in duty on German artificial wool imported into Britain, is demanded by the President of the English Wool and Textiles Federation, Mr. Sutcliffe, in a memorandum to the Government.

Reason for the demand, says Mr. Sutcliffe, is the increasing competition offered by German artificial wool to the Australian wool industry.—Transocean.

TRADE PARALYSED

Accra, Nov. 14.

The native boycott of foreign merchandise is paralysing trade. The marketing of cocoa, the Gold Coast's chief export, is also stopped.

REDUCTION OF BANK RATE IN FRANCE

Paris, Nov. 13.

The Banque de France lowered its discount rate by one-half per cent. to 3 per cent. on Friday.

By this step the abnormal increase in the bank rate, which till the end of 1936 and the beginning of 1937, stood at 2 per cent., the lowest in the last few years, until the rate reached 6 per cent. in June, 1937, has been nearly removed.

At the same time, interest on loans against collateral was lowered from 4½ to 4 per cent.—Transocean.

Discontent over the low price of cocoa is believed the cause of the situation.—Reuter.

WAR NEWS IN BRIEF

NEW DEFENCE LINE IN SHANSI COMPLETED

Lineng, Nov. 13: With the fall of Taiyuan new defence line running along Chiao-cheng, Fengyang, Hsukou and Taihu has been completed where the Chinese forces are determined to make a desperate attempt to halt the Japanese advance further into Shansi, according to information from military circles.

The Chinese troops which retreated from Taiyuan as well as reinforcements which have been rushed to Shansi have all taken up their positions along this new line, it is stated.

The Chinese units which engaged the Japanese in street fighting to facilitate the retreat of the main bulk of the Chinese forces upon the fall of Taiyuan actually fought to the last man, it is revealed.

Commenting on their valiant resistance, a Japanese spokesman said that it was unprecedented in North China in the past.—Central News.

SHANGHAI WITHDRAWAL DOES NOT MEAN END OF WAR

Nanking, Nov. 13: In a manifesto to the Chinese populace the Greater Shanghai Municipal Kuomintang Headquarters points out that the withdrawal of the Chinese forces from the port city must not be interpreted as the end of the war.

In view of the aggravated national crisis the Chinese people should redoubt their efforts to resist aggressor and wrestle the nation from its iron grip, the manifesto urges.

The manifesto reminds the people of a declaration of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek upon the outbreak of the hostilities, which says, "Our determination for self-defence is consistent. It will not be altered even when we fight to the last man and to the last inch of territory."

CHINESE COUNTER-ATTACK JAPANESE AT FENGCHINGCHEN

Hangchow, Nov. 13: Heavy Chinese reinforcements have been rushed to Fengchingchen, a station southwest of Sungkiang, to counter-attack the Japanese forces which broke through the Chinese line in the afternoon of November 10. Fierce fighting is reported to be in progress there.—Central News.

WUSHI RAIDED AGAIN BY JAPANESE PLANES

Chinkiang, Nov. 13: Fourteen Japanese aircraft subjected Wushi, important industrial town on the Nanking-Shanghai Railway, to another raid yesterday morning. At least 20 bombs were dropped, causing considerable damage.

Six of the raiders also reconnoitred Changchow, north-west of Wushi on the same railway, but dropped no bombs.—Central News.

JAPANESE PLANES BOMB YELLOW RIVER BANK

Tsinan, Nov. 13: Japanese aircraft bombed Yenchia and Lokou on the Yellow River bank in north Shantung yesterday.

At 9 o'clock in the morning four planes coming from Jihchow on the Shantung coast proceeded to Yenchia about four miles north of Tsinan and unloaded five or six bombs, killing three passengers and wounding more than ten in a junk.

About one o'clock in the afternoon four other planes flew to Lokou and released seven bombs, damaging an observation tower.

The air raid sirens sounded thrice in Tsinan between 9 o'clock in the morning and 4 o'clock in the afternoon.—Central News.

JAPANESE COMPLETES OCCUPATION OF GREATER SHANGHAI

Shanghai, Nov. 13: The occupation of Greater Shanghai was completed by the Japanese, at about 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon when firing by the last Chinese rearguards at Nantao was silenced.

These rearguards composed of a detachment of police glorified China's defensive war by fighting to the last man.

Observers of the four days' bloodshed at Nantao paid a high tribute to the heroic defence of their last foothold in Greater Shanghai by the Chinese forces and police. They revealed that under the personal command of General Tsai Ching-chun, Director of the Greater Shanghai Police Bureau, the Chinese troops and police held on from early in the morning to late at night on November 12, though all their defence works were shattered by Japanese land, sea, and air bombardment, and Japanese infantry units were closing in upon them from three sides.

When they received orders of withdrawal from the highest Chinese military command, the main bulk retreated, protecting groups of refugees evacuating with them. But a detachment of police acting as rearguards to cover their retreat stood their ground and kept on fighting until they were totally annihilated by the Japanese yesterday.—Central News.

TO RELIEVE CHINESE ISLAND REFUGEES

Foochow, Nov. 13: Waste land and vacant houses should be given to the refugees from Chinnien Island now under the forced occupation of the Japanese as a measure of relief, according to a circular order issued by the Fukien Provincial Government to the magistracies of Amoy, Tungan, Changchow and Fusan along the Fukien coast.

The magistracies are also instructed to devise other appropriate relief measures.—Central News.

FOOD SHORTAGE THREAT

SHANGHAI FACED WITH NEW DANGER

Shanghai, November 14.

The first serious indication that there may be a food shortage in the two foreign areas in Shanghai is seen in the enormous rise in the price of vegetables, meat, eggs and other food supplies as compared with two days ago.

Although officials in charge of the food situation in the Settlement maintain that there are ample supplies, it is generally opined that unless the usual avenue of supply is opened within a week, food shortage will prove a very acute problem.

A Municipal Council official states that negotiations are now under way with the Japanese military authorities with the view of obtaining permission for the farmers to leave the Settlement and French Concession to bring in supplies from the surrounding districts to the west of Shanghai and Pootung.—Reuter.

JAPANESE EYES ON KIATING AND LIUHO

Shanghai, Nov. 13.

Having turned the Chinese right flank and pushed back the centre, the Japanese are now preparing to smash the left flank between Kiating and Liuhoh, which is still intact.

Heavy Japanese troop movements are in progress preparatory to the offensive.

Meanwhile, Japanese planes have dropped leaflets warning the inhabitants of Soochow, the "Venice of China" and the base of Chinese operations in the Shanghai area, to evacuate by midnight.

This presages mass bombing of the entire town with its population of 200,000.

There have been many aerial attacks on Soochow hitherto, but they have been concentrated mainly on the railway station and tracks.

U. S. REQUEST

On the request of American missionaries, the United States Ambassador, Mr. Nelson T. Johnson, has suggested to the Japanese authorities creation of a safety zone, to include hospitals, where non-combatants could concentrate.

The remaining Americans, including missionaries, doctors and nurses, left Soochow this morning, and other foreigners are leaving by midnight.

It is estimated that 20,000 wounded Chinese soldiers are in Soochow hospitals.—Reuter.

UNSUCCESSFUL LANDING

Swatow, Nov. 13: A large party of Japanese marines made an unsuccessful landing yesterday along the Chaoyang coast in eastern Kwangtung, according to a report received here.

Two Japanese warships suddenly appeared off Chaoyang and immediately lowered several motor launches, fully loaded with marines. The launches headed for the shore but when the marines found that the Chinese forces along the coast were standing ready to repulse the landing the invaders turned back and proceeded towards the direction of Nantao Island.—Central News.

AT CROSSROADS OF NEW HOPE

Shanghai, Nov. 13.

Chinese forces in the Shanghai-Nanking area are at the crossroads of a new hope or failure, depending upon important decisions made at this time, according to foreign military observers.

The whole front line is at present reported to be extremely ragged, with endless columns of Chinese troops pouring westward to the new positions. Miles behind them the advance units of the Japanese army are advancing cautiously through unfamiliar country.

Observers are of the opinion that the Japanese announcements of the capture of Nantao and Anting are true, the collapse of another Chinese line of defence is almost certain. Furthermore they declare Kiating to be untenable with Anting in Japanese hands.

The opinion is that the Chinese plan to retire to a line running between Kaohing and Soochow which will give them the benefit of the railway.

The Japanese line of procedure is difficult to forecast, but observers believe that they will slacken pace in the near future to consolidate their positions.—Reuter.

NOTICE TO BRITISH SHIPPING

Shanghai, Nov. 14.

The British Consul-General has informed shipping companies here that Admiral Sir Charles Little is of the opinion that there is now no objection to British ships berthing at British wharves on either bank of the Whangpoo in view of the withdrawal of the Chinese army from the Pootung bank of the river.

Admiral Little feels that the risk of berthing at British wharves is no greater than berthing at the neutral anchorage of Gough Island but adds, however, that a slight risk still exists in view of the possibility of Chinese air attacks.

In view of the fact that the Japanese are still controlling the Hongkew, Wayside and Yangtze-poo areas, shipping companies are requested to inform the Consulate of any ships, especially large liners, which are likely to arrive in the near future so that the necessary special arrangements for the landing of passengers and discharging of cargo may be completed well in advance.—Reuter.

TRIBUTE TO PEMBROKE STEPHENS

Mr. Quo Tai-chi, Chinese Ambassador in London who is now in Brussels for the Nine-Power Conference, has cabled Lord Camrose, proprietor of the "Daily Telegraph," expressing condolences over the death of Mr. Pembroke Stephens, Shanghai correspondent of the journal, who was killed by Japanese machine-gun bullets on Thursday.

Mr. Quo Tai-chi says in his cable: "I learned with deep regret of the untimely death of Pembroke Stephens, who laid down his life for the cause of truth and justice and in the service of enlightened journalism."

"For the past months I have read with admiration his able despatches from Shanghai, which were obviously written with undaunted courage and at great personal risk."

"It is the feeling of my fellow-countrymen that his death is not only a loss to his own profession but has deprived China of a friend and impartial observer."

"I wish to offer you and Mr. Stephens' family my sincere sympathy and condolences."—Reuter.

SWATOW MERCHANTS

Take Oath Of Resistance

Swatow, Nov. 15: Members of the City Chamber of Commerce and chairmen of various trade guilds took an oath to resist Japanese aggression to the end at a meeting this afternoon.—Central News.

JAPANESE DESTROY FOUR GERMAN RESIDENCES

The ruthless destruction of German property in the Shanghai area by Japanese bombing planes has brought forth a sharp protest to the local Japanese Consul-General by the German Consul-General, Herr Berendt.

In a bombing expedition by Japanese planes, carried out over the Hungjiao Road district, Japanese bombers totally destroyed four German houses, despite the fact that each one of the residences flew large German flags, clearly visible from the air. At the time of the bombings the Japanese planes were flying low. It is further asserted in the German protest that the bombing imperilled the lives of German citizens.

According to reports, at least one German, Mr. Fritz Zimmerman, had a narrow escape from death when a direct hit by a bomb was made on the residence in
